Self Confidence Helps Give the British Credit Our National Pride Old Nature Beats Theory

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

THERE IS nothing like believing that you can win. When Caesar told the frightened boatman that his boat couldn't sink with him, Caesar, in it; when Napoleon really believed that his "star" would take care of him, those famous gentlemen had the best possible start in any fight—self confidence.

McAdoo, hurrying East from Chicago, sticks his head out of the window and says, "We can beat 'em anyway."

He looked as confident as Caesar and Napoleon combined when he said it, according to the reporters.

OF COURSE, nothing is quite sure. Unknown Caesars have sunk with the boatman after telling him the boat couldn't sink, and many an unknown Napoleon's "star" has turned out to be only a firefly.

However, McAdoo is the leading candidate now. There is no doubt about that. He really expects to win, and that's forty per cent. of winning.

YOU'VE HEARD of England's patriotic exhibition at Wembley, planned to boom the British Empire and arouse British patriotism.

The best imperial exhibit shows a map of the world of gigantic size, with the oceans, seas and bigger lakes made of real water.

Britishers walking around the map see all parts of the earth's surface owned by them lighted up by red lights from below. They see thousands of British ships moving along through the water on the great world's trade routes. Signs tell them that the British flag flies over one-quarter of all the land on earth.

WHEN THE visitor from Canada, Australia, South Africa sees that he says to himself "Partnership in the British Empire is a pretty good thing."

And other nations, including ours, are bound to give the Britishers credit for governing ability. You saw the other day a statement by the British Labor Prime Minister MacDonald, that the whole army of the British Empire is smaller than the army of Holland or Spain. That means good management.

THE GREAT Everett cotton mills of Lawrence, Massachusetts, have closed. "No demand for colored cotton goods." And England is shipping millions of yards of colored cotton cloth into this country. The stores discover that goods sell more easily when labelled "Made in England."

IT WOULDN'T be a bad idea to have at Washington, and in every big city, a patriotic map showing what the United States amount to.

We don't own one-quarter of the earth's surface. But we have got a couple of oceans, some big lakes, the Mississippi, Niagara Falls, the Rockies, more than half of all the gold in the world, and 113 millions of pretty intelligent American human beings. It ought to be possible in some way to interest Americans to buy goods made in their own country.

IN ENGLAND, if you buy goods NOT "British made," you are looked upon with contempt. Here, if you insist on buying goods NOT American made, you are considered fashionable.

SOCIALIST prime minister, or labor prime minister, you find little change in policy where national feelings are concerned. Poincare is kicked out, not because he occupied the Ruhr, but because the franc started on its way to a one-cent price. Herriot, radical Socialist, is Prime Minister and says he will STICK in the Ruhr.

ENGLAND chooses MacDonald as Labor Prime Minister. During the war MacDonald was a pacifist. If he had talked in the United States as he talked in England during the war, he would be in jail now.

But in spite of his pacifism,

CHILDREN LOYAL TO LAWSON

Stand by "Daddy" in the Custody Suit Brought by Their Mother, Arnold's Ex-Wife

When it comes to a showdown, Jean, Tom and Arnold Lawson, grandchildren of Thomas W. Lawson, "farmer, author and financier," will stick by their dad.

The three children of Arnold Lawson and the present Mrs. Lucy B. Blake, said so today, staunchly, in Suffolk County Probate Court, where the mother seeks custody of the children.

A picture of Arnold Lawson, not of the former "copper king," draped in a becoming gingham apron, polishing dishes, dusting, cooking before a big stove and romping with his children, was painted by witnesses in the case.

Another picture—one that showed Henry Spring Blake, retired banker, walking through the Blake house, devoid of clothing, in sight of sixteen-year-old Jean Lawson—was furnished in the girl's testimony.

She didn't like Blake, she testified, because of this. The two boys gave this same reason for disliking the present husband of their mother.

DOESN'T LOVE MOTHER.

Blake, on the stand, denied that he had ever thus paraded informally, knowing the girl was in the house. He admitted that he might have in sight of the boys.

But Jean, fifteen, and Thomas William, Lawson, 2d, and Arnold Lawson, Jr., ten-year-old twins, want to be with their father, regardless.

Arnold recalled that when it came to a battle with his twin the results were about fifty-fifty. Tom would be licked in one battle, he like as not, Arnold would turn about in the next and drub Tom to a fare-thee-well. Pretty evenly matched these pals were, Arnold testified, except in a slight regard in school. Tom could spell a bit better than Arnold, Thomas P. Feeney, counsel for the father, elicited this important information.

The two boys were not crossexamined by E. R. Anderson, counsel for the mother. The attorney so

His former wife, now Mrs. Henry Spring Blake, mother of the children, is seeking their custody on the ground that they are forced to do housework beneath their station in life. The children, however, are all standing staunchly by their "Daddy." The insets are, left to right, at top, Jean and Vera; at bottom, Thomas W. Lawson, 2nd. The former Mrs. Lawson now lives in a Beverly Farms mansion. Her children, though, prefer their humble Milton home and the company of their father.

FIND MOST OF $3,000,000 MAIL LOOT

Chicago, June 18.—Much of the $3,000,000 loot obtained in the hold-up last Thursday night of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad mail special has been recovered, and Chicago policemen and postal inspectors expect to find an additional substantial quantity today.

Enough evidence has been obtained to justify charging the eight men under arrest in connection with the hold-up with the robbery and the three women as accessories.

Three other men are sought.

RADIO RECEIVING CONDITIONS TONIGHT

Radio receiving conditions tonight will be good from stations broadcasting in the east, south and middle southwest.

Masons and K. C. Act Fraternally at Town Meeting

Greenwich, Ct., June 18.—Members of Acacia Lodge of Masons and Orinoco Council, Knights of Columbus, who recently broke bread together at a fraternal gathering, worked in harmony again at a town meeting, which voted abatement of taxes on the local Masonic Temple, Knights of Columbus Home and other property.

When Town Counsel Wilbur S. Wright questioned the reason for abatement of taxes on the Masonic Temple, Judge William L. Tierney, leading member of the local K. of C., declared the temple was an asset to the town. When the resolution for abatement of taxes on the Knights of Columbus home came up one of the principal champions of the measure was First Selectman Oscar D. Tuthill, member of the Masonic Lodge.

HELEN WILLS LOSES MATCH ABROAD

Wimbledon, June 18 (A.P.)—Miss Helen Wills, the American woman tennis champion, was defeated in her singles match in the team event today between the American and British women representatives by Mrs. Phyllis Covell of England in straight sets, 6—2, 6—4.

Miss Wills was wild, overdriving frequently, serving several double faults and netting a good many backhand shots. Mrs. Covell was steady and kept up a hard driving game, playing mostly to the California girl's backhand.

Miss Wills apparently found difficulty in getting "the lay of the land," slashing a number of her backhand drives far beyond the lines.

FASCISTI GUARD STREETS; HUNT KIDNAPERS

Rome, June 18 (I.N.S.).—Black shirted Fascisti militiamen patrolled the streets today while police searched for further participants in the kidnaping and killing of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti, and government leaders conferred to determine whether there should be further revisions in the Mussolini Cabinet.

Signor Finzi, commissioner of the government press bureau, sent a letter to the Giornale d'Italia, denying he had financed anti-Socialist newspapers. He charged that the policy of the press bureau was controlled by Premier Mussolini.

Under Secretary Acerbo issued a statement saying if there were abuses in the press bureau, he was not in any way responsible.

If, as rumored Tuesday, Premier Mussolini offered his resignation to King Victor Emmanuel, it has not been accepted. The Mussolini Cabinet is functioning as usual.

Police were reported to have found a trunk belonging to the leader of the Matteotti kidnaping band, containing a blood-stained knife and pieces of blood-soaked cloth. Investigation is under way to determine if the cloth is part of the clothing worn by the Socialist deputy when he was seized and carried off by five men on June 9.

Situation in Italy Normal, Says Semi-Official Note

Rome, June 18 (A.P.)—A semi-official statement on the Matteotti case was issued today. The statement, given out by the Stefani Agency, says:

"The Matteotti crime has caused a wave of great indignation among the public in general and the Fascisti in particular, but the situation is being viewed with great calmness.

"Almost all the newspapers recognize now that the authorities are on

CORCORAN'S ATTORNEY ACCUSED

Weeks "Tied Up With Blackmail Gang," Assistant Prosecutor Bushnell Charges

William E. Weeks, counsel for William J. Corcoran, was "tied up with the blackmail gang," it was charged today by Assistant District Attorney Bushnell, testifying in the Coakley-Corcoran conspiracy trial in East Cambridge Superior Court.

A clash between Bushnell and Weeks occurred during a brief examination of the witness by Corcoran's counsel.

Q.—When you told Mr. Levenson that you could not promise him immunity, did you place any emphasis on the word promise? A.—I see what you are implying. When I told him that there was no hint or double meaning in the word. I used the word in common English use and not as your gang uses it.

Q.—What do you mean by your gang? A.—The gang you are representing.

Q.—My gang? A.—Oh, yes.

Q.—The blackmail gang? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you mean to say that I am a blackmailer? A.—Oh, you are tied up with them.

Bushnell then left the stand.

When proceedings were resumed before Judge Wilkins today, Coakley asked Bushnell one minor question and the assistant district attorney

R. I. FILIBUSTERS EAT, SLEEP, SHAVE ON JOB

Providence, R. I., June 18.—The police guard patrolling the hallways of the Senate at the State House to prevent a renewal of yesterday's near-riot has been dismissed.

What is needed today is a corps of chiropodists.

For twenty-four hours the Senate has been sitting in unbroken session, while the minority Democratic filibusters are trying to stay awake long enough to prevent the majority Republican standpatters from getting a quorum.

Coffee and cakes are passed around at intervals.

At noon the Democrats in the Senate were preparing for a series of roll calls to prevent the Republicans from leaving the chamber for much needed rest. A barber was sent for to shave the lieutenant governor in his chair, which he had not left since the Senate convened at 2:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Several of the Senators have made arrangements whereby, while one dozes, one keeps on guard, prepared to wake up his colleague at the slightest sign of a move to adjourn.

NO SLEEP FOR TOUPIN.

Lieutenant Governor Felix A. Toupin, who presides over this historic session; Secretary of State Ernest L. Sprague and Reading Clerk James E. Dooley cannot get their forty winks in with the rest. The rules of the Senate require them to be present while the session is in progress and the trio have stuck grimly to their seats for twenty-four hours.

The chair is so dizzy from lack of sleep that it can hardly recognize Senators who wish to take the floor.

Senators who do take the floor, realizing the futility of attempting to

Missouri 'Wets' Will Not Travel on Same Train as 'Drys'

New York, June 18.—It was learned today that the feeling between the opposing Democratic factions in Missouri had become so bitter that the dry and wet delegates would travel to New York on separate trains.

"The drys will arrive here Sunday on "the Ground Hog Special," and six wet delegates will get here on "the Water Spaniel Limited" a few hours later. The Kansas City contingent, generally classed as wet, will not be on either train.

LEOPOLD INSISTS HE IS NOT INSANE

Chicago, June 18.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., who with Richard Loeb, awaits trial on charges of kidnaping and killing Robert Franks, thirteen-year-old schoolboy, may not rely on insanity as a defence. He is quoted as saying, in spite of efforts of alienists to find mental defects, "I'm not insane and I'm not going to be made to appear insane." He would not say whether he intends to repudiate the confession he made to State's attorneys.

JUDGE WANAMAKER LEAPS TO DEATH

Columbus, O., June 17 (I.N.S.).—Judge R. M. Wanamaker of the Ohio Supreme Court committed suicide here today by leaping from a bathroom window on the fourth floor at a hospital where he was a patient. Death was instantaneous. He was fifty-eight years of age.

Judge Wanamaker had been a patient at the hospital since June 12, where he was being treated for a nervous breakdown.

GARAGE DEAL IS BARED

Jamaica Plain Man Tells Fin. Com. of Paying Fee to Get Building Permit

The Finance Commission today resumed hearings on the matter of money alleged to have been paid for bribes in the securing of garage permits.

The hearing revealed first instance on record of a politician alleged to have received $1,000 for "seeing that a permit was granted," making frenzied and futile efforts to return the money to the man who paid it to him.

The characters figuring in the interesting little political by-play are: William A. McPherson of No. 2564 Washington street, Jamaica Plain.

Frank Brennan, secretary to Mayor Curley in Curley's first administration; former State representative, former city councillor and former street commissioner.

Mr. McPherson was the first witness when the Finance Commission resumed its hearings.

PAID $1,000 TO BRENNAN.

Prepared by previous testimony last week, there was no great astonishment when McPherson stated he had paid $1,000 to Brennan so that he could get a permit for a garage at the Washington street address in Jamaica Plain.

But the circumstances of the alleged deal, as related by McPherson, and its climax, caused a great deal of interest and hilarity.

It appears from McPherson's testimony that he called in advance about permits for garages were not gotten by merely applying for them. He knew a man named Dan Ryan in the assessors' department, and he went to Mr. Ryan, engaged in lengthy conference with him, and finally was referred to a Mr. Smart, who gave him glad news.

"Should be taken care of," Mr. Smart promised McPherson.

The man who was to see McPher-

New Haven, Ct., June 18.—Fire of unknown origin today damaged the Arena building, occupying an entire block on State street, causing a loss estimated at $300,000. Yale University's artificial skating rink, one of the largest in the East, and home of Yale's hockey teams, was completely wrecked.

A fire in a loft building in the Congress avenue district caused damage of $100,000.

son through, it appears from the garage man's testimony, appeared a short time later, by appointment, in the basement of the old City Hall, and was none other than Mr. Brennan.

He was introduced there to Mr. Brennan, Mr. Smart doing the honors. The introduction was brief and to the point:

"This is the gent who will take care of you on your garage."

Mr. Smart thereupon left Mr. Brennan and Mr. McPherson together. Mr. McPherson said he came right to the point.

"Will $500 do the trick?" he asked. Mr. Brennan, according to the garage man, was equally terse.

"Nix. $1,000."

Brennan explained, McPherson testified, that "the big boss" was running for governor, and campaign funds were needed. McPherson got a certified check on the Roxbury Trust Company for the $1,000, Brennan, he said, refused to take the check, so McPherson cashed it at the Beacon Trust Company and handed Brennan the money.

This was on November 5. The next day McPherson went to the permit office, saw Tom Hurley and got his permit, and work was started at once on the foundations of the new garage.

The work had no sooner been started when Mr. Brennan called up and made an appointment with McPherson near the garage—the yet unborn garage.

The conference took place, and Brennan, McPherson said, was the bearer of bad news.

"The people of this section are up in arms against your building a garage," Brennan is quoted as having stated. "The boss is running for Governor, and he can't afford to antagonize voters in this section. I want that permit back."

"Oh, o's," said McPherson.

Whereupon, McPherson testified, Brennan took a large roll of bills out of his pocket and placed them into McPherson's pocket. McPherson promptly took the roll of bills out of his pocket and put them back into Brennan's pocket. Never were two men more eager to get rid of money.

The next day Mr. McPherson was informed that the permit had been revoked. He went to the office of Street Commissioner John H. L. Noyes and demanded to know what was what.

COULDN'T FIND LAWYER.

Mr. Noyes backed up Brennan.

"It's politics, my friend," he said. "The boss doesn't want to antagonize the people of the section. You are dead set against your garage."

Thus the matter stood when recess was called in the finance commission hearing.

The commission's constable reported then that he had scoured the city in search of Mr. Brennan, but couldn't find any trace of Mr. Brennan.

The commission then decided to recall Arthur Clark, who figured in the proceedings last week as having gotten $1,000 for influence used in granting a garage permit.

Mr. Clark, it appears, had called up and informed the commission that his attorney, Senator John MacCormack, couldn't be located.

"I can't find the senator," Clark phoned. "I'll try to locate him in time for the next hearing."

He had hardly hung up when Senator MacCormick called up.

"I can't appear at the hearing today," he said. "I've been looking all over for Mr. Clark, my client, and I can't seem to locate him. I'll try to dig him up in time for the next hearing."

There appeared nothing else to do than to adjourn the session until next Friday, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, which the chairman of the commission, Judge Michael H. Sullivan, accordingly did.

CANADA TO FLOAT $300,000,000 LOAN

Ottawa, June 18.—The Dominion government plans to float a $300,000,000 loan, proceeds of which will be devoted entirely to refunding operations, it was said today. A five-year victory loan of $107,955,000 falls due on November 1 and the new issue will take care of this and other maturing obligations. The government has not yet decided whether the loan will be floated entirely in Canada. Acting Minister of Finance Robb will soon ask Parliament for the necessary authority.

HUGHES LAUDS COOLIDGE AT AMHERST

Holds Up President as Example of Integrity and Self-Control

Amherst, June 18.—Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, who received the degree of Doctor of Laws at the Amherst commencement today, prefaced an academic address with a tribute to "the most notable contribution of Amherst to our national life—Calvin Coolidge, 1895."

The Secretary, who is a Brown man, mentioned various Amherst alumni with whom he had been associated in public and private life, including William Travers Jerome, '82; Arthur C. Rounds, '87; his law partner, Charles S. Whitman, '90, whom he appointed to the bench in New York; Robert Lansing, '86, formerly Secretary of State, and Harlan F. Stone, now Attorney-General. The secretary proceeded:

"And there is our chief, than whom there is no better example of the integrity, the self-control and intellectual discipline which commands confidence and ennobles leadership, the most notable contribution of Amherst to our national life, Calvin Coolidge of 1895."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Expressing wonder whether the college man of today is being swamped in too many activities, the secretary said the greatest need of the day is cultivated understanding, and added that in no part of our activities is understanding so difficult as in foreign affairs.

For example, he added, our relations with Latin-America were never better than today, "despite the efforts of those in other countries who endeavor to foster an unfriendly sentiment toward us."

"Yet there are writers among us," he added, "who apparently make it their business to develop antagonism and spread among the people of this country, who have no opportunity for judgment from personal knowledge, the notion that our policies are imperialistic, that our influence is baleful and that mutual respect and friendship are decreasing.

"There are those among us who try to make it appear that this government is the agency of international bankers and concession hunters. What grotesque perversion it is!

SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL.

"We seek a square deal for our nationals throughout the world and we uphold their rights. Having the freedom and opportunity to which they are entitled, they make their own contracts, according to their conception of their interests. This government does not take part in such transactions and plays no favorites."

Other honorary degrees were as follows:

Doctor of letters—Professor Burges Johnson of Vassar College.

Doctor of humane letters—Donald Y. Thompson, headmaster of Roxbury Latin School, Boston.

Master of arts—Professor Charles B. Gould of Albany Academy, William S. Rossiter, Concord, N. H., author and statistician, and Charles E. Kelsey, Boston, publisher and philanthropist.

Brown Confers Degree on Japanese Ambassador

Providence, June 18.—Brown University today conferred 324 degrees at the 158th commencement.

Of the total of 324 degrees awarded 272 were first degrees, fifty-six advanced degrees and six honorary awards.

Recipients of honorary awards were: Masanao Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, doctor of laws; William Howard Sweetland, justice of the Rhode Island Supreme Court, doctor of laws; James Henry Franklin, secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Society, New York, doctor of divinity; Robert Lincoln O'Brien of Boston, doctor of literature, and Joseph H. Gainer, Mayor of Providence, master of arts.

Rail Men Way Bill W. G. McAdoo to White House

Washington, June 18.—Railroad employes today presented William G. McAdoo with a "way bill" to the White House.

"We have waybilled you to the White House," a railroad spokesman told him, "because that represents the sentiment of railroad men." The way bill carried 16,000 signatures.

"I'll accept," replied McAdoo, "and carry out the order."

break the deadlock, speaking on anything from the fourth dimension to the poor quality of bootleg booze that has made its appearance recently in Providence.

As far as the cops are concerned, they're not involved.

Nobody has energy left sufficient to renew the first fight which almost caused a general riot yesterday.

The filibustering minority is determined to pass the bill for its pet object, a constitutional convention for the State of Rhode Island. The Republicans are prepared to stay in session until doomsday in behalf of their pet project, the Emergency Appropriations bill. The Lieutenant Governor refuses to recognize any Republican on the floor.

Gov. W. S. Flynn (Photo by J. M. Oppenheim, Boston)

Lieut.-Gov. Toupin (Photo by J. M. Oppenheim, Boston)

This measure will assure officeholders of getting their pay.

Inasmuch as the majority of officeholders are Republicans, the Democrats don't care if the bill is ever passed. But the Republicans care—oh, how they care.

The Democrats have one edge on the Republicans. They claim they are more accustomed to staying out late nights, and swear they will outwait the Republicans.

On the other hand, several of the Democrats are delegates to the Democratic National Convention in New York next week, and the Republicans have sworn to stay in session long enough to either win out or cheat the Democrats from going to their convention.

Thus the situation in Rhode Island affects a presidential convention.

The muggy heat in the Senate chambers isn't helping the situation along any. Visitors who filed into the galleries today prepared for eloquence got only snores.

VEILED WOMAN IN AIKEN GIRL MYSTERY

Chief Holds Conference; Mrs. Aiken and Graham Plead Not Guilty to Minor Charge

Woonsocket, R. I., June 17.—During the arraignment on a technical charge of Mrs. Viola Aiken and James Graham, considerable speculation was aroused today when Chief of Police Allaire of North Smithfield was seen in conference with a veiled woman in the courthouse.

Before the courtroom proceedings were over, Allaire and the woman left and proceeded to Allaire's home, accompanied by John Aiken, father of the three-year-old child, Viola Aiken, who has been missing since May 24th and is thought to have been murdered.

Following the visit to Allaire's home, the three went to the Mowry farm, where Mrs. Aiken and her children lived with Graham, and began a search under various outhouses on the farm. Allaire refused to divulge the identity of the veiled woman, or to discuss the purpose of the search.

John Aiken, who has hitherto not been under suspicion in connection with the disappearance of his daughter, is now under surveillance of the police, although he has not been arrested. It is said his alibi is being investigated.

The Woonsocket courtroom was packed to capacity when Mrs. Aiken and Graham were arraigned. It was the first time that Aiken and his wife came face to face, and the onlookers were disappointed when the two engaged in apparently amiable conversation. During the arraignment Mrs. Aiken sat with Graham, with John Aiken seated nearby and watching them calmly.

Mrs. Aiken and Graham pleaded not guilty, and were returned to cells in the basement of the courthouse.

FINE 2 DORCHESTER MEN IN RUM CA

James Keating, alias Owen J. Tredgo, and Antonio Fasano of 618 Columbia road, Dorchester, were fined $50 and costs each in Roxbury District Court by Judge Hayden charged with selling and exposing intoxicating liquor. Keating was fined $50 and Fasano $100. Their place was raided by the police on June 7. Re-arrested a second time for the same offence, before the first case was tried in court, both men were found guilty and their cases continued for disposition, June 24.

RICKARD TO BUILD $5,000,000 GARDEN

New York, June 18.—"Tex" Rickard has announced the purchase by his corporation of the car barns on Eighth avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets for $2,000,000.

On the site will be constructed the largest building in the world devoted to amusements, to take the place of Madison Square Garden, which is to be torn down. Work will be started within ninety days.

nounced that she had requested that he refrain from such cross-examination.

Jean, however, in cross-examination, declared that on one occasion, during a dispute between mother and daughter, she told her mother she did not love her. The girl is a second year student in Milton High School and keeps house for her father, although the entire family pitches in and lends a hand.

EXPECTED NO PAY.

Yesterday, Vera Lawson, seventeen, declared with flashing eye while testifying, that she did not help in the housework for compensation.

Jean testified today that her father had bought her three pairs of shoes in the past year, one pair costing $9. She testified also that her brothers had been ill but not ill enough to need a doctor.

"Have you been taught that people don't need physicians?" asked Attorney Anderson. "Yes," replied the girl.

Q.—By your father? A.—Somewhat.

Q.—Anybody else? A.—My Sunday School teacher.

Q.—What church? A.—Christian Science.

Her father asked her not to accept clothes and other presents from her mother, she testified. The father also asked the girl said, that her mother discontinue a practice of meeting the girl at school. This was after Jean had told her father that the other girls whispered among themselves when her mother appeared.

Attorney Feeney, in cross-examination, asked Jean if she was fond of Blake. The girl replied that she was not.

LAWSON WASHED DISHES.

Charles F. Berg and his son, Frank A. Berg, neighbors of the Lawsons in Milton, were called as witnesses. The senior Berg testified that he had always observed happy conditions in the Lawson home and had seen Lawson in his gingham apron, helping with the dishes, and cooking.

Arnold Lawson, father of the children, testified that prior to his enlistment in the army in June, 1918, he "played at working" in his father's office. After the war, however, he settled down to work as an automobile salesman, he said, and up to four weeks ago he had been earning about $6,000 a year. Now he is on a commission basis.

The appointment of a new Minister of the Interior and the replacement of the Director-General of Public Safety and the arrests of the only four suspects who were reported to have fled across the Italian frontier are considered with satisfaction by public opinion. This may explain the tranquility and absolute calm which the country is enjoying and the complete failure of manifestations and protest strikes planned in some places. The situation now may be considered as quite normal."

COURT STOPS LOUD SPEAKER AT 9 P. M.

New York, June 18.—A radio loud speaker, operated until a late hour evenings, today was declared a public nuisance by Magistrate Grosse in Jamaica Court in connection with the conviction of Augustine Estur, owner of a Jamaica radio shop. Twelve witnesses supported the complaint of Dr. Arthur D. Voaltz, who said the loud speaker, operated from noon until 12 o'clock each night in front of Estur's shop, prevented him from sleeping and listening in on his own radio. The magistrate suspended sentence on promise to shut up the loud speaker at 9 p. m.

FIND "SLAIN" COUNT, CLEARING PLOT INVOLVING MISS LA MARR

WILD STORY TOLD BY GANGSTER

Film Colony Mystery at Los Angeles Blasted When Supposed Victim Is Located

Los Angeles, June 18 (I.N.S.).—What at first appeared to be a film colony mystery murder, based on a story told to authorities by Norris Nodler, twenty-one, convicted gangster, that Count Miguel Escoto, film actor and Spanish nobleman, and who was declared to be an intimate friend of Barbara LaMar, screen actress, had been murdered was blasted here today.

Count Escoto was found in an apartment house.

Police declared that they had under investigation a story concerning the supposed murder of Count Escoto, who had been missing four weeks, in a fight, it was alleged, over Miss La Marr.

Detectives admitted they were questioning a number of persons concerning the supposed slaying, among them some people in the motion picture world.

Nodler is a prisoner in the county jail, under sentence to San Quentin for highway robbery.

Nodler claimed he knew just where the body was tossed down the precipice.

The prisoner named Jack Daugherty, the last husband of Barbara La Marr, as implicated in the alleged plot to do away with the foreign nobleman. An uncle of Daugherty also was mentioned by the prisoner as knowing details of the [illegible]'s disappearance.

CANADIAN POSTAL STRIKE AT 5 P. M.

Ottawa, June 18.—Minister of Labor Murdock was notified today that the postal workers would strike at 5 o'clock this afternoon unless their wage controversy was satisfactorily adjusted by that hour. A committee representing the 10,000 postal employes conferred today with Mr. Murdock and Charles Stewart, assistant postmaster general.

The workers have asked the government to take immediate action to amend the wage award recently formulated but the ministry has refused, asserting that it might suggest a revision after the commission has made public its wage scale for the other branches of the civil service.

FINGER PRINT EMPLOYES IN FORD THEFT

Police Confident the $100,000 Gem Robbery Was Committed by an "Inside" Worker

Detroit, June 18.—Police have obtained finger prints of all employes in the house and about the grounds of the residence of Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, in connection with the robbery of $100,000 worth of jewelry Saturday night.

Mrs. Edsel B. Ford

Clear finger prints were left by the thief, according to police.

The jewels, in a silver case, included a pearl necklace of 205 graded pearls with a platinum clasp set with a one-carat diamond, valued at $67,000; a pearl necklace of 103 graded pearls with a platinum clasp set with a one-half-carat diamond, valued at $27,000; Mrs. Ford's wedding ring, a platinum band of scroll design; a guard ring encircled with one-eighth-carat diamonds, and a gold octagonal clock.

The Ford residence, surrounded by a high wall topped with spikes, is guarded constantly by fifteen men, and police expressed themselves as being skeptical that any thief could break through this cordon.

The jewels were taken from the bedroom of Mrs. Ford while she and her husband were entertaining two guests, it was announced. The fact that a bathroom window near the bedroom was found open gave rise to the belief at first the thief had climbed a canopy and entered through this window.

The robbery was discovered when Mrs. Ford went to her room and looked for the clock on her dressing table. It was gone, and further search showed the jewel case had been taken.

GIRL BOOTLEGGER IS AGAIN SEIZED IN CHASE

Caught in Vermont After Running Load of Ale Through a Hail of Bullets

Newport, Vt., June 18.—After driving her beer-laden automobile through a barrage of revolver and riot gun shots fired by fifteen Federal prohibition agents laying in ambush, Marie Rushway, bobbed haired Malden rum runner, is under arrest again.

The girl, known for months to Federal prohibition agents guarding the Canadian boundary as the "phantom of the foothills" is lodged in the Newport jail charged with violation of the tariff acts and Federal prohibition law.

Less than a month ago the girl paid a fine of $1,000 in Montpelier on the charge of rum-running. After paying her fine she declared that she was "all through"—that she had resolved to give up her lawlessness after her first arrest.

Her second arrest came after she ran a barrage of revolver and shotgun fire that punctured the tires of her twelve cylinder automobile—carried away a part of the gas tank and made a sieve of the radiator.

The ambush laid for the Malden girl was prepared days in advance.

It required a patrol of fifteen men to finally run the girl to earth after her car, containing 720 bottles of Canadian ale, had been riddled with bullets.

Arthur Harvey, head of the Prohibition agents along the Canadian boundary, had charge of the party that effected the arrest that was the climax to a 48-hour vigil along the international boundary by United States motorcycle officers, assisted by deputy sheriffs, sworn in for the emergency.

They got "her" at the crossroads but it was a close shave. The customs squad hit the crossroads less than 300 yards in advance of their quarry.

SAYS HE CAN'T PAY $46,000 LOVE VERDICT

New York, June 18.—Clyde E. Black, former attorney and one-time millionaire silk manufacturer, who was ordered by a jury last March to pay Charles J. Babb $46,000 for alienating the affections of his wife, will not be thrown in jail for defaulting payment, at least not until next October.

Mrs. Ada Babb

Declaring that he was unable to pay the judgment, Black was granted an order by Supreme Court Justice Callaghan permitting him to file a bond of $2,500 to assure his presence at a hearing on his appeal from the judgment.

A jury in Brooklyn, following sensational testimony concerning a Bermuda trip taken by Black and Mrs. Babb, awarded the chemist $46,000, heart balm. This, however, was reduced by the court to $28,000.

Black says he is unable to pay the judgment and that Babb is trying to have him sent to jail.

BELGIAN AGAIN WINS BENNETT CUP RACE

Brussels, June 18.—The Belgian Aero Club today announced Lieutenant Ernest De Muyter, pilot of the Belgian balloon Belgica, had won the international race and the James Gordon Bennett Cup. De Muyter landed near Edburgh, Scotland, after traversing the English Channel and England.

Fifth was the best position obtained by any of the three United States entries. Captain H. E. Honeywell got fifth place, W. G. Vanneman got twelfth place and Major Peek fifteenth. Second place went to the French aeronaut La Porte, who landed near Brighton, England.

DAWN-TO-DUSK FLIGHT PUT OFF

Mitchell Field, N. Y., June 18 (I.N.S.)—The "dawn-to-dusk" flight, which Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan planned to start tomorrow from the flying field here, has been postponed, Lieutenant Maughan announced today. He now expects to start on Saturday, with a bare possibility he may get off Friday, he said.

MULCAHY ATTACKED IN IRISH ARMY PROBE

Dublin, June 18.—The report of the committee of inquiry on the recent mutiny in the army, just issued, says the committee regards the reorganization of the Irish Republican Brotherhood within the army as a disastrous error of judgment, and declares that Richard Mulcahy, as Minister of Defence, ought to have informed the executive council of this development, and of his own negotiations with the group of mutineers, headed by General Liam Tobin.

The existence inside the army of an organization of senior officers who attempted to dictate to headquarters and to the government, the report says, had been a problem to Michael Collins, and after his death this group grew closer, their objects being partly personal and partly political.

The Vacation Laundry Problem

Solve it by making dresses of colored linens that you can depend on to wash and wear and keep pretty the season through. Dozens of different lovely colors to choose from—and no fading or shrinking if you buy Kolor-Kraft Linens.

Since early spring we have constantly offered to replace the material and cost of making of any garment made of these linens if it fades or shrinks. We make this guarantee without knowing anything about the laundry conditions to which these linens will be subjected. Yet of the thousands we have sold, up to the present time

Less Than 1-9th of 1% Have Been Returned

These linens are made from an especially good quality of flax fibre, shrunk after weaving until it can shrink no more. This treatment also makes the surface smooth and easy to launder and it keeps the fabric from crushing like ordinary linen.

You want summer dresses that are in style. Linen is immensely in favor and in demand this season. You want vacation frocks that you can keep bright and pretty, and with as little trouble and expense to you as possible. Your choice of any one of the thirty-three different Kolor-Kraft shades will prove a most luxurious economy, before the summer is over. One yard wide,

Smart Set Colony Along North Shore Gathering Rapidly, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE by one the lovely cottages and show places along the North Shore are opening their long closed windows. The lawns are being put in order and the smart set is again taking up Summer residence while the June roses are blooming and the peonies are looming in bursts of color along the roadways.

The past week in spite of the unpromising weather marked the opening of many of the Beverly Farms places. From Boston, New York, Philadelphia the Summer colony is gathering through the Beverlys for the warm months.

AMONG the new arrivals at Beverly Farms this year are Mr. and Mrs. Howland Seabury (Rosamond P. Johnson), who are to occupy a house on Vine street, which they have leased for the Summer season. Mrs. Seabury has always taken an active part in show affairs during the Summers that she spent with her mother, Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson, of Wenham. The Seaburys will be received by the younger group as charming additions to the colony.

Mrs. Marshall Fabyan

DR. AND MRS. MARSHALL FABYAN have closed their Commonwealth avenue house and have returned to "Hickory Hill," their Summer place on Webster avenue.

MRS. LYON WEYBURN (Ruth Anthony) will only be at "Valleylock" for part of the summer. She is planning to spend some of the time with her children in the mountains as guests of her mother, Mrs. Randolph Frothingham. The Weyburns were abroad last summer.

Mrs. Russell Codman

ABOUT the middle of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Codman and Russell Codman, Jr., left Boston and opened their Smith's Point house, at Manchester, for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Codman recently returned from their spring voyage to Europe.

AMONG the latest newcomers to the North Shore from Philadelphia are Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson, who came to Beverly Farms last week to open their beautiful summer home, "Sydith Terrace," at West Beach. The gorgeous gardens across the road from the house and row in full blaze of color add their beauty to the shore.

Society Notes

THE Dalton estate on Hale street, Beverly Farms, was opened again this year by the Thomas Barbours of Boston, who have returned with their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. F. Weeks returned to their estate at Beverly Cove last week. Mrs. Nell W. Rice has also returned to the Cove.

Miss Fanny P. Mason sailed last week on the steamship France for a Summer in Europe. Her place at Beverly Cove has been leased by Mrs. Henry B. Endicott of Boston, who is planning to come to the Shore this week.

From New York come the John W. Cutlers and their charming family, "Beaver Pond," Beverly, is once again the haven of nooks and play spots for the Cutler children to whom the Summer is an endless delight.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer and their children have also returned to Beverly Cove to open their house at Hospital Point. The Sawyers were absent from the colony last season as they spent the Summer abroad.

Might Is Right When Crow Is Hungry

Having acquired the build and the stream lines of a fire plug, John Noonan, inhabitant of a Pemberton square cellar, achieved his life's ambition today. He became an eye-witness.

He became an eyewitness, chiefly with the aid of Pemberton square bill—a terror to those whose tonnage is becoming a thing of serious moment. Not only does Noonan, as a pedestrian, have to shift back into second on this hill, but then he needs must pull back into first.

It was this check on his climbing speed that delayed him long enough to become an eyewitness to "the battle of Pemberton Hill" today.

The battle was all one-sided, however, from the time a thieving black crow swooped down into the haunts of the judicial pigeons of the courthouse and kidnaped a squab, until the same crow had finished its tasty breakfast and had carefully wiped its bill—or whatever a crow does after eating.

The related pigeons displayed considerable indignation over the affront and murder but that is all they showed. Several scores of them crowded the crow a bit and a sparrow came to look on. That was all. It was a thin battle, with no blows struck.

But John Noonan, heavyweight cellar dweller, was an eyewitness.

HOTEL GUESTS ARE AROUSED BY CAFE FIRE

Fire in the restaurant of the Hotel Savoy at No. 461 Columbus avenue aroused all the guests today and resulted in a damage of $1,000 to the hotel restaurant.

The fire started in the restaurant, where firemen checked the blaze.

As a precautionary measure the fire gongs in corridors of the hotels were sounded, arousing the guests. They were told to be prepared to leave, but this was not necessary.

GONE AND FORGOTTEN

IT'S SO EASY to remove a spot, and have forgotten by now how you did it. We can tell you how to:

REMOVE WHITE SPOTS on a dining table. Quickly. Effectively. Inexpensively. Special oil, 15 cents an ounce.

TAKE DIRTY MARKS off window shades. With a certain cake. It's easy. And saves sending them to be cleaned.

CLEAN OR TAKE CARE of rubber garments. A solution is good. We'll give you the formula. There are other things to do, too, to prolong the life of rubber lined traveling cases, aprons, reducers, etc.

GREASE SPOTS can be taken out of linen. If you use soap a certain way, at a certain time. We'll tell you about something else, too, that helps dissolve grease. Good for tablecloths and doilies.

TO SET COLOR in brown, black or pink, use a solution, of a certain temperature. Simple. Easy to make at home.

BLUE OR LAVENDER should be treated differently, if you don't want them to lose color. Or streak. Each requires special treatment. A teaspoonful of something in a gallon of water may save you many dollars.

SCORCHED SPOTS may be taken out of white linen. It's all in knowing how.

WHITE FELT HATS can be cleaned with a certain cleaner, after which you rub on a little powdered substance and let it stay overnight. Brush off the next morning. We'll tell you about these two. Liquid, 25 cents a can. But little odor.

WHITE KID shoes, belts, etc., can be cleaned with a specially prepared liquid. 35 cents a bottle. Brown or tan can be kept spick and span with cream. 35 cents. No bothering with paste. Just use a soft cloth. Nice for ladies to use at home.

A CERTAIN ROUGE cleans silver. 20 cents a tin. Used by silversmiths, and makes silver look as if cleaned by electrical buffer.

WASH SILK HOSE as soon as you take them off. They'll wear longer. Do not let the soap touch them, but make a lather with a special kind of soap. Made just for silk stockings. Non-alkali. 10 cents a cake. Comes in pretty gold wrapper. Wonderful for washing hair, too.

DON'T SPOIL pretty things. Learn how to care for them. I can also tell you what to give for weddings, favors; the newest materials for hangings or dresses. Color schemes, furnishings, hair dyes, rouges, etc. There is no charge. Send loose stamp. DO NOT send envelope, care Boston American, 80 Summer St.

FIRE HEROINE DRAGS WOMAN TO SAFETY

Refuses to Tell Charlestown Police Her Name After Rescue

An unidentified girl about 18 years old, saved the life of Mrs. Sarah Boyle, of No. 2 Avon place, Charlestown, early today, when she rushed into the burning home of Mrs. Boyle and dragged her out of bed and into the street.

The girl, who refused to give her name to the police, was walking along Sullivan street, near the Boyle residence. She noticed smoke and flame issuing from the structure.

She rushed into the house after calling for someone to call the firemen. Apparently no one heard her calls for help and when she returned to the street she had to run about 150 yards to a fire box to give the alarm.

DRY LAW WAS NEWS TO BILL; GETS ON JURY

Man Who Never Heard of Volstead Act to Hear Case Against Gaston B. Means

New York, June 18.—In a few years more William Winneg is going to begin to hear rumors. Then he'll try to enlist and fight the Germans for democracy or something.

Winneg runs a delicatessen store. This may be a clue. He was in court, however, where the jury that will try Gaston B. Means for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws was being selected.

Court formality is awfully dumb sometimes. For instance they ask you if you're sure what your name is and stuff like that.

They asked the jury panel, one by one, if they had ever heard of the Volstead Act. All passed the difficult test until it came to Winneg.

"The what?" he asked with a twelve-pound expression on his face.

"The Volstead Act."

"I don't know what it is," answered Winneg.

He was selected as a juror.

M'ADOO FORCES ORGANIZE TO TAKE CONTROL OF CONVENTION

BATTLE ON MAJORITY RULE

All Other Candidates Join Hands in Common Fight Against His Nomination

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

New York, June 18 (I.N.S.).—Its McAdoo against the field.

Backed by one of the strongest organizations that any candidate ever took into a national convention, with far more delegates than any other candidate possesses, and supremely confident in their ability, not only to nominate their man, but also to control the convention machinery the McAdoo managers served notice today they were going into Madison Square Garden next Tuesday prepared to give battle on everything from platform to rules.

The formidable McAdoo strength and tactics are such that all opposing candidates are being driven into each others' arms for sheer self-protection in the pre-convention maneuvering here.

The fight over the rules will be the first number on the Garden's card of bouts, it appeared today.

STIFF FIGHT PREDICTED.

The McAdoo managers will support, if they do not actually lead, a fight to abrogate the rule that requires a winning candidate to obtain two-thirds of the delegates—in this case 732. The rule has stood since Jackson's day, and it will be a stiff contest.

Abolition of the rule will be opposed by every candidacy opposed to McAdoo. The supporters of Governor Al Smith will fight it because they are confident that while McAdoo at one time or another may succeed in approaching or getting a majority of the convention, he can never obtain 732 of the 1096 delegates.

Supporters of every dark horse candidate in the Democratic stable will fight it, not because they love Al Smith, but because their only hope lies in a deadlocked convention and the inevitable compromise.

MAY FORCE BATTLE.

Judge David Ladd Rockwell, director general of the McAdoo campaign, estimated today that McAdoo would have thirty members on the rules committee report in favor of retaining the two-thirds rule. Then the McAdoo people may force a floor fight on a minority report, or hide their time until a deadlock is reached and then demand a reconsideration of the rules.

McAdoo's managers are counting on approximately 430 delegates on the first ballot, about five hundred on the second or third and small but steady additions thereafter as favorite sons begin to drop out of the heavy going. A majority is 548.

ENOUGH TO DEADLOCK.

On the other hand, Smith's managers are figuring on an initial strength of about 300. New York and Pennsylvania alone are counted on to furnish more than half this number, with Wisconsin, Illinois, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Massachusetts and Connecticut furnishing the balance. It takes but little more, 365, to constitute a deadlocking one-third.

The Underwood contingent, mustering less than 100, and the dark horses and favorite sons—John W. Davis of West Virginia, Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana, Carter Glass of Virginia, David F. Houston of Kansas and Governor George S. Silzer of New Jersey among others—will take care of a number sufficiently large to block a two-thirds vote, and even possibly a majority.

Substantial agreement has been reached among the leaders here for Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Senate oil investigator, as permanent chairman. The McAdoo people will put forward Governor H. J. Fields of Kentucky as chairman of the Rules Committee, and Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut as chairman of the platform committee. Both will be fought by the Smith-Underwood people.

WIFE OF DEMOCRATS' POSSIBLE NOMINEE

MRS. JOHN W. DAVIS

Wife of former United States ambassador to Great Britain. Mr. Davis is now regarded as one of the many "dark horses" for the Presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention in New York next week.

Quote Shorter Odds in Convention Bets; Smith Still Leads

New York, June 18.—Governor Smith still is first choice in Wall Street betting on Presidential nominations on the Democratic ticket, according to an announcement by J. S. Fried & Co., No. 20 Broad street. The odds offered against his receiving the nomination are 2 to 1.

McAdoo comes next, at 2½ to 1; Ralston is third, 3 to 1; Davis, 4 to 1; Glass and Copeland, 5 to 1. Previous odds against Smith and McAdoo were 2½ to 1 and 3½ to 1 respectively.

Fried & Co. continue to quote odds of 1 to 7 that Smith will be the next President.

Odds on Coolidge's re-election have dropped from 9 to 5 to 8 to 5.

U. S. FLIERS HOP TO BANGKOK TODAY

Hanoi, French Indo-China, June 18 (A.P.).—The American world fliers, who arrived at Saigon on Monday, planned to hop off today for Bangkok, Siam, about 500 miles west of Saigon.

An American torpedoboat destroyer has taken supplies of gasoline to Kompong-Som Bay for the use of the American aviators in case they need additional supplies of fuel while enroute to Bangkok.

Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, the flight commander, said he was satisfied with the progress so far made by the airmen in their flight.

Pennsylvania Delegates Swing to Gov. Smith

Scranton, Pa., June 18.—Pennsylvania's delegates to the Democratic National Convention will support Governor Al Smith of New York for the presidential nomination, John H. Bigelow, State chairman of the party, announced here today.

ITALIAN GENERAL'S CHILD KIDNAPED

London, June 18.—A young daughter, of General Piccio, Italian air commander and aviation expert, has been kidnaped, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome today. The dispatch says police suspected that a nursemaid, assisted by a man to whom she is engaged, were taking the child to the United States.

DAD SOOTHES CHILD, HIS CAR HITS TREE

Forrest H. Munroe of No. 25 Summer street, Hudson, drove his automobile into a tree at Westwood while attempting to relieve a sick spell of three-year-old daughter Barbara and steer at the same time. The child and her mother were injured and five stitches were necessary to close a wound in the face of the former.

FIGHT TO DOWN COMMUNIST CONTROL

Farmer-Labor Convention Delegates Make Desperate Stand to Regain Control

St. Paul, June 18 (I. N. S.).—The third party Farmer-Labor-Progressive convention here, which has steered none too steady a course on its maiden run, appeared headed straight for destruction today upon mines secretly strewn in the troubled waters by the Communists.

As the convention entered its second day, amid scenes of feverish excitement with Communists and anti-Communists hurling vituperative oaths at each other across the floor, it was clearly evident that little short of a miracle could save the meeting from wreck.

The Communists admittedly held the whip. They struck out with a powerful offensive that virtually took all control away from William M. Mahoney of St. Paul, who first decided to bar the radicals and then offered no objections to their being seated.

DOUBLE CROSSED.

He had called the convention and held control until the Communists took it and was fighting now with his back to the wall to keep the Communists from completely dominating the convention and going ahead with their program that called for immediate formation of a third party, with an independent ticket that would exclude Senator La Follette.

"They double crossed me," Mahoney said today. "But we and he meant the Farmer-Laborites haven't lost all hope.

"We are prepared to make one last fight on the floor to beat the Communists. If we fail, well the convention is over; we will walk out, clear the hall and lock the doors."

The delegates would have faced barred doors today had not Mahoney demanded one more show-down with the Communists. The St. Paul Association of Business Men which has charge of the convention hall, requested that the keys be turned back and the doors locked because of the convention's action in seating the radicals.

SPECIAL POLICE GUARD.

Mahoney assured the hall managers that if the Farmer-Laborites walked out, the Communists, if they did not leave, would be driven out of the hall, by force, if necessary. Arrangements were made for posting special details of police about the hall.

The fight to wreck the convention, or give it new life, was scheduled to come today over the question of whether a third party should be formed at once or later, and the appointment of an executive committee of two members from each State to endorse LaFollette for the Presidency. The Communists wanted to form the party, the Farmer-Laborites demanded selection of the committee.

"MOORISH KING" ARRIVES IN ROME

Rome, June 18 (A.P.).—Ras Taffari, regent of Abyssinia, arrived in Rome today and was received at the station by the King, court officials, Premier Mussolini, Commissioner Cremonesi and civil and military authorities. A large crowd witnessed the passage of the royal procession along a route lined with troops, the people making a sympathetic demonstration for Prince Taffari, who has been called "the Moorish King."

Prince Taffari expressed his satisfaction at his reception and referred to his special friendship for Count Cilli Di Feltzzano, Minister to Abbyssinia.

RESCUE OLD PEOPLE IN LAWRENCE FIRE

Lawrence, June 18.—An elderly woman, helplessly ill, and three elderly men were rescued from a fire at No. 58 South Broadway today, which threatened destruction of a number of tenement houses in the vicinity of Shattuck street.

The blaze, which started in a back room of a fruit store in the three-story structure, was discovered by Patrolman Michael Murphy. He forced a door in the hallway and aroused the fifteen tenants in the upper floors, who fled to the street in scanty attire.

TO REPORT CAMPAIGN FUNDS EVERY 10 DAYS

Washington, June 18.—The Senate committee authorized to investigate campaign contributions and expenditures this year plans to establish headquarters in Chicago and to keep a continuous check on these during the active period of the campaign, when it will meet at the request of any of its five members. After selecting Senator Borah as chairman, the committee decided to call on party campaign managers for reports every ten days on expenditures and sources of funds, including the names of contributors.

COMMENDS HEARST IN CHILD LABOR FIGHT

Sacramento, Cal., June 18.—"Declaring that every California legislator is morally bound to cast his vote for abolition of child slavery in America," State Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento issued a statement in which he said he will head a movement in the 1925 Legislature to ratify the child labor amendment referred to the States by recent congressional resolution.

Inman commended the Hearst newspapers for their fight to gain passage and the California Legislature can be depended upon for overwhelming ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment.

ACCUSES CORCORAN'S COUNSEL OF BEING "TIED UP WITH GANG"

BUSHNELL AND WEEKS CLASH

was then interrogated by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading as to the Levenson case in Middlesex County, for which Levenson, as evidence showed, was found guilty and received a sentence of two years.

Q.—Did you handle the Levenson case throughout? A.—Yes.

Q.—Can you give us the date of Levenson's trial? A.—Last June.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that after the jury returned a verdict, you moved for sentence? A.—I did.

Q.—Did the court impose sentence upon your motion? A.—It did.

Q.—And did counsel for Levenson then make a motion for a stay of sentence? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did the court grant it? A.—Yes.

Reading then asked his assistant about conversations with Levenson and inquired regarding the entire conversation at an interview held in Boston.

Bushnell replied:

"I saw Levenson at Hurwitz's office in Boston. After he greeted me I did refer to his case before I discussed the blackmail charges. I said to Levenson, 'I understand you have come over to the government to help in the prosecution of the blackmail gang in both the counties of Suffolk and Middlesex. I would like to take your statement. Of course, I cannot promise you any immunity of any kind, and you, as a lawyer, must know that the matter of your case, which I tried in Middlesex County, is entirely out of my hands and up to the court, and I couldn't help even if I wanted to.

"Levenson replied, 'I don't ask for any immunity or any promises or agreements whatever.'"

Mrs. Helen W. Sewall was called then, as third witness for the defence. She appeared rather nervous when sworn. Mrs. Sewall is a decidedly attractive woman. She wore a long, blue military coat.

STEARNS' EX-WIFE.

Q.—(By Coakley).—Where do you live? A.—In New York.

Q.—What part? A.—Brooklyn.

Q.—At one time were you Helen W. Stearns? A.—Yes.

Q.—Wife of Captain Charles Ephraim Stearns? A.—Yes.

Q.—How long were you and Captain Stearns man and wife? A.—Nineteen years.

Q.—And you at one time lived in Waltham? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was your father General Weaver? A.—Yes.

Q.—The last few years of your married life with Captain Stearns were not very happy, were they? A.—No.

Q.—During that time in your married life did you seek a divorce. A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you come to my office relative to a divorce? A.—Yes.

Q.—Will you tell the jury, Mrs. Sewell, in your own way what you said at that time? A.—I said I wanted a divorce and felt that I had the evidence. I said that if my husband was watched, evidence could be secured at any time.

SACHET IN LETTER.

Q.—Are you perfectly willing, Mrs. Sewell, that I should testify as to anything you said at any time. A.—Yes.

Q.—About that time, did you have any papers you showed me? A.—Yes, some letters.

Q.—And did you, at that time, discuss with me something about other letters that you did not hand me at the time? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you tell me the contents of the letters which you did not show me? A.—As I recall it I told you the trend of those letters.

Coakley then asked the witness about a letter. Judge Whiting inquired if it was already in the case and Coakley answered yes.

Q.—What was in that letter? A.—A snapshot and a sachet of some sort.

Q.—By a sachet, you mean a bow of some sort? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did I talk with you and your husband in the Biltmore Hotel last Saturday? A.—Yes.

Mrs. Sewall was then shown three letters she said were written by Mrs. Catherine Atkinson. District Attorney Reading said he had not seen the letters and a recess was taken that he might examine them.

REBUKE BY COURT.

After the recess Reading objected to Coakley's method of questioning Mrs. Sewall about the letter, saying:

"I object emphatically to the attempt to lead this witness and to put words into her mouth. I request that Mr. Coakley be ordered to conduct his examination in the manner of ordinary counsel.

Judge Whiting, addressing the jury, said:

"Foremen and gentlemen, the remarks of the District Attorney should be disregarded. They are highly improper. It is not the time for argument.

Q.—After you told me about your husband and you handed me letters, what was done? A.—We discussed the letters.

Coakley then read a letter dated June 12, 1917, addressed to Charles E. Stearns at his State street office.

The letter was signed "As always, Catherine," and was identified by Mrs. Sewell as one of three written to Stearns by Mrs. Catherine P. Atkinson. The letter read as follows:

PLANNED FISHING TRIP.

"I could not come to Boston without thinking of you and wondering what you are doing for your country. Something worthwhile, I am sure. I am giving all my time to the Red Cross. I work every day and four nights a week.

"I am chairman of the organizing committee and vice-president of the chapter and chairman of the hospital supply committee in Grand Rapids.

"I say this with no small amount of pride because we were greatly cheered by our chapter record. It showed a membership of 40,000 and subscriptions of $100,000, which was the largest for the population.

"I will be here until June 26. Mother and Dick and I are going to Rangeley. Why don't you try to come down to Portland. Try to make it.

"You can telephone to Mrs. George Bayer of No. 104 West street. If you can't come to Portland why not arrange to come on a fishing trip with me.

"I wish you would write if you don't come. Write to me at Rangeley.

"As always,

"CATHERINE."

Q.—What was the date of your first visit to my office? A.—March, 1918.

Q.—How long did the interview last? An hour.

Q.—State the conversation. A.—I told you Captain Stearns had been an habitual drinker and I had often put him to bed intoxicated. I told you he had been unkind to me and all our friends in Waltham knew the situation. I told you of incidents when he embarrassed me. I told you of the peculiarities in our marriage relations and of the Jennie Penn letters and the kid glove enclosure.

I told you of others I had gotten a good many years before which I had given to Mr. Webster to care for me and that he still had. I told you one of the letters which he had also contained gloves and a newspaper clipping about a lady. I do not know who that woman was until I read the clipping. It told of the Red Cross work of Mrs. Catherine Atkinson. I told she had written other letters to Captain Stearns.

ON ANY GROUNDS.

Reading objected on the grounds that Mrs. Sewell could not identify the handwriting of a woman she hadn't seen. Judge Whiting said the evidence showed that she did identify the writing later.

Q.—Did you pay me at that interview? A.—Yes; all I had, a $100 bond.

Q.—Did you tell me where your husband was likely to be? A.—Yes. I told you that evidence could be procured at Fortress Monroe, Va., but that I did not wish to get it in any other State than Massachusetts where we both resided. I told you if he was watched I was sure you could get evidence.

Q.—Did we discuss the grounds for divorce? A.—Yes. I told you I wanted a divorce on statutory grounds, but I was willing to obtain it on any grounds and I showed you these letters to corroborate my statements.

MRS. HELEN W. SEWALL.

Former wife of Captain Charles E. Stearns. She was a defence witness in the Coakley-Corcoran trial today.

FLAMING AUTO LEADS MERRY 2-MILE CHASE

Swampscott Firemen Fail to Put Out Blaze They Could Not Catch

If someone with experience in such matters will kindly step forward and tell one Police Officer Roach and the Swampscott Fire Department, how to put out a fire they can't catch up with—Officer Roach and the fire laddies will be jolly well appreciative.

The hard ridin' officer and the fire laddies were weighed in this respect and were found wanting. After two miles of racing in pursuit of the fire they were still wanting.

Officer Roach was standing at New Ocean street and the state road in Swampscott, thinking of nothing at all, when an automobile drove by him. There was nothing strange about this phenomenon until the officer noticed a large order of flame playing about beneath the car.

He sounded his whistle to attract the driver's attention. It did—but the driver had a guilty conscience or something. He stepped on it.

Officer Roach ran back a few hundred yards to the Swampscott fire station and the apparatus started to roll in pursuit of the speeding, flaming car. Half a hundred interested autoists started to roll at the same time.

The flaming autoist won. He disappeared into the maws of Salem with the flame still streaming out behind. Now, in Swampscott, they are wondering just where he exploded eventually, if at all.

THOUSANDS AT BIER OF BILL BRENNAN

New York, June 18.—The funeral of Bill Brennan, heavyweight pugilist, shot to death by gangsters in his Bronx cabaret, was held today. Two thousand admirers followed the hearse to the Church of St. Rose de Lima, where an additional 3,000 joined the mourners as high mass was sung. The pall bearers included his trainer, Frank Clines, and Jack Renault, champion heavyweight of Canada.

Two men charged with having shot Brennan and a State patrolman will be arraigned for the boxer's murder tomorrow.

Connie Madison, Stage Beauty, to Be Third Wife of Dooley

New York, June 18.—Connie Madison a beauty in "Innocent Eyes," playing at the Winter Garden, is going to be the third wife of Johnny Dooley, one of the best known of the stage's comedians.

Connie and Johnny announce that the ceremony will be performed in Newark, N. J., Friday, by Mayor Brieddenbach, there being, as Mr. Dooley says, "certain legal entanglements" concerning his marital status in New York.

"Johnny is the dearest boy," said the small brunette beauty, "and I just know we are going to be happy in his Yonkers bungalow. They are going to honeymoon in the bungalow because Johnny must stay here this Summer for his engagement in "Keep Kool."

GUNMAN WHO ROBBED QUINCY SOLON CAUGHT

The armed burglar in shirt sleeves who held up State Representative Temple A. Winslow at his Wollaston home and escaped with the Winslow limousine, was captured in Elizabeth, N. J.

The burglar, who pursued the lawmaker, is Harry McConardy, 23, a neighbor of Winslow, according to word received by the Quincy police from the police of Elizabeth.

The police of the New Jersey city said that a man in a Massachusetts automobile was picked up by them. At the Elizabeth police station, the police said, the man said he was Harry McConardy. According to the New Jersey police, the autoist confessed to the holdup of Representative Winslow.

McConardy was picked up as the result of radio descriptions broadcasted by the Quincy police.

"I did it just for the fun of it; I'll return all the property I took," he is quoted as saying in his confession to the Elizabeth police. He was driving the Winslow car.

Police Inspectors Daniel Doran and John Avery of the Quincy police started for Elizabeth to bring the prisoner back to Quincy.

3 FOUND DEAD IN QUARRY MYSTERY

Chicago, June 18 (I.N.S.).—Authorities of Du Page County, near Chicago, today were confronted with a mystery when the bodies of a man and two women were recovered from an automobile submerged in a water filled quarry. One of the women was clad only in a single garment. The other was fully dressed.

CAR HITS HOUSE AND THREE ARE INJURED

One of Victims in a Serious Condition Following Crash Near Abington

A turn in the road between Abington and Hanover Four Corners was too sharp for Abraham Shuman of Quincy Point today.

A car driven by Shuman and containing two youths and a girl as passengers, left the road, plunged through a field, narrowly missed a number of trees, and ended its disastrous misadventure in a resounding crash against a house.

Amello Giordani, twenty, of No. 10 Claremont avenue, Quincy, is in a critical condition at the Quincy Hospital as a result of the crash. He suffered internal injuries, a fractured shoulder and a possible fracture of the skull.

Shuman, the driver, who lives at No. 129 Chubbuck street, Quincy Point, and Alex McDonald of No. 660 Washington street, Quincy, were treated at the hospital, for bad cuts and bruises, then were allowed to go home.

The girl, whose name the police said was Daucer, slipped away

Patrolman Resigns

Patrolman Arthur B. Olson of the Athens street police station resigned from the department in the face of charges preferred against him by his superiors. The usual seven day notice was waived.

Dead Negro's Money Belt Contains $3,600 in Cash

Torrington, Ct., June 18.—A money belt worn by George Thomas, thirty-three, negro laborer on the Shepaug tunnel project, when he was admitted to the hospital here as a pneumatic patient June 9, contained nearly $3,600 in cash, it was discovered following his death Monday night. He leaves but one known relative, a cousin, James Cabon, in Litchfield.

Thomas' body will be taken to Boston for burial Friday.

FIND BLOND INDIANS IN PANAMA JUNGLES

Colon, June 18.—Richard C. March, explorer, who led an expedition into the Panama Jungle in search of a tribe of blond Indians, arrived here today with three specimens of the so-called "white Indians" and six others of the regular copper hue.

The trip from San Blas coast to Colon was made in a schooner. March has fitted out his Indian charges with the habiliments of civilization. The blonds include a well grown girl, about fourteen years old, with wavy golden hair which was bobbed today.

DRUG SENTENCE OF WOMAN SUSPENDED

Mrs. Alfreda Wilson of Irwin avenue, Roxbury, charged in Roxbury Court with possessing morphine, was given a year's suspended sentence by Judge Hayden and upon recommendation of a doctor who had treated her was ordered to go to a sanitarium for treatment. It is alleged that the police seized a package of drugs addressed to her at her home.

BOYS SAIL BOAT FROM CHINA TO DENMARK

Amateur Seamen Successfully Complete Long Voyage in 47-Foot Craft

Washington, June 18.—Three Danish youths have just completed a remarkable exploit in sailing a forty-seven-foot ketch of twenty-seven net registered tons from Shanghai, China, to Copenhagen, almost without previous experience in navigation, Consul Marion Letcher reported to the State Department today.

The amateur seafarers were one year, two months and fifteen days making the journey, counting time spent at way ports overhauling their boat.

The party originally was composed of six young Danes, five of whom were employes of the Great Northern Telegraph Company. They had served three years in the Far East and wished to come home for a vacation.

Three of them, including the only man of the party who had had any previous navigating experience, decided to give up the adventure when the vessel reached Batavia, but the remaining three stuck to the original plan, even though the reduced personnel was hardly sufficient to operate the boat.

Stockholm—Rum-runners in Sweden bear no grudges against their pursuers. A new chaser in the archipelago off Stockholm broke her propeller shaft and was at the mercy of the waves until the rum-runners, defying all danger, rescued the customs officers and crew.

Have you tried the new bread?

Robert Boyd Ward, who founded this Company, set a new standard for quality bread. He was never satisfied and always kept trying to do better and better. He believed that the responsibility was on him, and on everybody else in the baking business, to keep on trying to make better and better bread.

In carrying out this old idea of his, we kept before us his feeling that the possibilities of nourishment, flavor and digestibility in bread had not been exhausted. We took one of his old recipes representing what he thought a loaf of bread should contain in the way of ingredients. We increased the quantity of milk, sugar and shortening. This makes your new loaf more nourishing and better tasting—an especially good loaf for children.

It's as rich as bread can be, yet it is a very simple loaf—just an honest loaf of bread.

It keeps moist and fresh longer because of the extra milk and shortening. It toasts better because it has more milk and more sugar. It makes substantial sandwiches.

We have named it Ward's Fine Bread—we're all so proud of it. Please write us what you think of it.

MAN, 72, LEAPS INTO BAY TO RESCUE BODY

Aged Quincy Resident Makes Heroic Attempt to Save Drowning Swimmer

"If you think seventy-two years is old age, read this story.

John Henderson, who has lived that number of years, was standing on his porch at his home on Crane road, Adams Shore, Quincy, watching his neighbor, Murray Saunders, swimming, dive from a rowboat off shore.

Miss Martha Dowling and Miss Pauline Campbell, both in street attire, were seated in the rowboat applauding the diver.

Suddenly, Henderson, from his porch, observed that Saunders did not come to the surface after a dive. Then he heard the girls in the rowboat scream.

John Henderson realized that a man was drowning and he realized too that despite his seventy-two years he was the only one in sight to go to the rescue.

Without stopping to throw off any of his clothing, Henderson ran 200 yards down to the shore and plunged into the water. With a swift, regular stroke he swam 50 yards to the side of the rowboat and dove for Saunders. Henderson caught up the body of Saunders and hauled it to the rowboat, which he quickly rowed to shore.

Physicians and pulmotion failed to bring Saunders back to life. The doctors said there was no water in his lungs and that he had had a shock.

300 YOUTHS AND GIRLS IN RIOT ON VESSEL

Crew of King Philip Quell Fight Among Roxbury Club Guests

Years from now, old sea dogs along the Boston water-front will be talking of what happened aboard the good ship King Philip, in the middle of Boston Harbor on the eve of Bunker Hill Day, 1924.

The S. O. S. which Captain George Dixon of the King Philip sounded from his staunch fishing craft, when some of the 300 young men and women aboard started a riot bid fair to become a maritime classic.

Captain Dixon is a fisherman, pure and simple. But when the members of the "Two of Us Social Club" of Roxbury offered to charter his boat for an all-night cruise about the harbor, the captain was pleased. Now he knows better.

The members of the "Two of Us Social Club" invited the members of another Roxbury club to enjoy the harbor outing with them.

Three hours after the hundred and fifty emptk took possession of the boat, the masters of harbor shipping craft were startled by the shrieks of the King Philip's siren.

The siren continued its shrieks, it was Capiain Dixon's only means of letting the world know that there was a man-sized riot aboard his craft. Many of the 300 young men and women were engaged in a free-for-all fight that would have done credit to a pirate craft.

A score of healthy young sea dog members of the crew of the King Philip, rushed to the aid of the captain.

The rioters paid no attention to the captain or the crew. Imbued with the same spirit that fired their forebears on the top of Bunker Hill in 1775 years before, many of the club members battled on.

When word finally reached Sergeant Larry Dunn of the police boat Watchman he proceeded under full steam to the distressed craft.

DID NOT RECOGNIZE THEIR MOTHER

MRS. GRIFFIN AND TWO OF HER SONS

When Mrs. John Griffin of Woburn (inset), met the Cunarder Scythia at New York and hailed her two little sons, Lawrence (at left), five years old, and Gerald, four years old, they failed to recognize her, as it had been three years since she left them in Ireland with their grandmother. It was some time before the older boy became convinced that Mrs. Griffin was his honest-to-goodness mother. There was more difficulty, however, before Gerald was won over. He wanted to stick close to the ship's nurse, to whom he had become greatly attached on the trip from Queenstown.

Five years old and fresh from the Emerald's Isle, gave four years old a poke on the nbs when Gerald Griffin, 3 tween four and five, his mother says, turned his back on his maternal parent and emitted howls and confusion yells as Mrs. John Griffin sought to renew acquaintances with her second oldest son.

The two youngsters opened wide and curious eyes at the home of their parents, 305 Main street, Woburn, after the long sail from Queenstown and the flashing train ride from New York.

Lawrence, five years old and full of astuteness, accepted his mother's word that she had a right to take him in tow as the steamship Scythia docked in New York, but Gerald was full of doubts.

Loud howls and panic-stricken sobs overcame the four-year-old as he clung to the ship's nurse and begged the strange women who called her and his mother, to let him alone.

Only when the youngster had cried himself out did he agree to accompany his mother peaceably to his new home in Woburn.

The youngsters were left in Ireland seven years ago with their grandmother, when their mother returned from a visit. They arrived home to find two brand new brothers, one and three years old.

And all the youngsters in town are down to see the new little arrivals, says their home folks.

How We Know Why People Have

Burning Feet

All in the Joints says Maine Doctor

USE JOINT-EASE

"What fools we mortals be." All these years we have been trying to help thousands of foot-sore people by bathing and powdering the skin when all the time the real trouble is in the bones, ligaments and cartilages.

For, be short, in the joints.

There are 26 bones in the foot covered with cartilage and connected with ligaments and they have a tremendous amount of work to do.

The slightest strain on one little ligament from being "on the feet" too much influences the whole foot causing soreness and burning, aching and general misery.

"All this can be quickly proved," says a prominent Maine doctor whose name is known the world over.

"Find for a remedy that is compounded for joint troubles only—such as Joint-Ease, which every druggist carries, and see how quickly your sore, tired, inflamed and tortured feet will get well and strong and shirdy again.

Forget your powdering and soaking and other makeshifts for just a few days and get rid of all foot misery by using Joint-Ease.

It's an active emollient that you rub on with your fingers for about a minute and it soaks right in through skin and flesh away down to the joints—the real seat of all troubles.

And remember when Joint-Ease gets in all foot agony gets out—quick. A tube for 60 cents—Every drug store.

All druggists sell lots of Joint-Ease.

CHURCH STRIKE ACTION POSTPONED

Three hundred members of the parish of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Cambridge, voted to postpone action on calling a strike from a striking mass pending the outcome of a conference between a committee that have appointed and Cardinal O'Connell in regard to the dismissal of Rev. Fr. Albert Duarte, assistant pastor of the church.

More than 2,000 names have been obtained on a petition asking that Fr. Duarte, who was dismissed by Cardinal O'Connell last week be reinstated. This petition will be presented to Cardinal O'Connell by the committee chosen to meet him in an attempt to determine the reason for Fr. Duarte's dismissal.

Joseph Pimentel, president of the Holy Name Society of St. Anthony's Church, presided at the protest meeting.

NOTHING TO DOROTHY IN ARNOLD'S WILL

New York, June 18.—Application for the settlement of the estate of Francis L. Arnold gives the value of the property at $888,453.

Mr. Arnold was the father of Dorothy Arnold, who disappeared mysteriously from her home in December, 1910, and who, despite a world wide search, was never seen or heard from again by her family or friends. Arnold made no provision for Dorothy in his will, explaining that he was convinced his daughter was not living."

20 FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME BY FUMES

Stricken While Fighting 3-Alarm Blaze in the Market District

More than a score of Boston firemen were overcome by pineapple fumes at a $25,000 fire in the five-story building No. 82 Commercial street, North End, early today.

The fumes, coming from burning cases of extracts in the plant of the United Fruit and Produce Company on the first floor of the building overpowered the firemen in a manner that baffled Chief John H. Tobin who took charge when a third alarm was sounded.

A sweet, overpowering stu swept over the firemen. It attacked the exposed skin of the fire fighters. Many of them were affected as if they had been given laughing gas. Others were affected about the eyes as if they had been subjected to tear gas.

CALL FOR GAS MASKS

Several persons in nearby dwelling houses also were affected by the fumes.

One after another the unconscious firemen were carried from the building by their companions, while an emergency call was sent to all fire stations in Boston for gas masks.

The first floor of the building is occupied by the United Fruit and Produce Company, the second floor is a plant of the Hub Preserve and Pickle company. The upper floors are occupied by the Kennedy Butter & Egg Company.

When Chief Tobin arrived on the scene he ordered the entire building flooded. Many of the firemen who were overcome lay on the pavement about the building unconscious.

Lieutenant James Condon of Engine 8 was one of the first to be overcome by the fumes. He was removed to the Relief Hospital, where he regained consciousness within a short time.

Among the other firemen overcome are:

Patrick Wall, Engine 6; James Mahoney, Engine 6; Fred Toner, Engine 6; Arthur Sullivan, Engine 8; Martin Dullahy, ladder 1; Walter Corwin, Engine 8; E. P. Brady, George Thelen, William Bird and Jack Bitchie, all of Engine 8; M. Hazel, Aerovid, Engine 8; John Leary, Ladder 1; W. H. Carroll, Engine 6 and Jerry Buckley of Engine 8.

VISITING ELKS TO LIVE IN PULLMANS

A novel plan for housing the delegates to the national Elks convention, to be held in Berlin the week of July 5, has been adopted by the local committee in charge, in the form of the use of Pullman cars.

It is planned to establish a line of Pullman cars at the Huntington avenue yards for use as an auxiliary hotel accommodation.

BONUS APPLICATION BLANKS HERE IN PLENTY FOR VETERANS

AMERICAN'S BUREAU READY TO HELP MAKE THEM OUT

By SOLDIERS' FRIEND

As veterans of the World War were informed in late editions of yesterday's Boston American, the Soldiers' Friend Bureau of the Hearst newspapers in Boston is pleased to announce that official application blanks are here in large quantities and await the call of all who may be entitled to them.

The Soldiers' Friend Bureau, maintained by the Boston American in co-operation with the Boston Advertiser, is on the street floor of No. 80 Summer street.

Call for your own application blank at your convenience.

Making out an application for the bonus is not at all a difficult task, but if any veteran or surviving dependent of a veteran is in need of assistance in the matter that assistance will be furnished here, without cost.

The one aim and object of the Soldiers' Friend Bureau is to be of service. Facilities are here for the taking of the necessary fingerprints. No charge for anything.

Those who ask questions of the Soldiers' Friend, and who prefer to be answered by mail, are again advised to send with their questions a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Here are more replies to recent inquiries about the Adjusted Compensation law.

D. M., Lynn.

Q.—I am a veteran's wife and have a child ten years old. My husband deserted us. I have since divorced him, and he has left for parts unknown to escape a warrant for non-support. If he has married again, will I and his child be entitled to the bonus, or will his second wife be entitled to it?

A.—If your husband is still living, he would be the only one eligible to apply for the bonus. If he is dead you would not be eligible, because you are no longer his wife, and consequently would not be his widow. Your child would be eligible to apply. However, if he veteran is living you are without remedy, because the law does not provide for extending its benefits to a deserted wife and family. If your divorced husband remarries, in my opinion the child by the first wife would be preferred in the event of the father's death.

C. C., Boston.

Q.—I went into the army March 29, 1918, and was discharged Jan. 11, 1919.

A.—Fill out the application blank to the best of your ability, following closely the instructions which come with it. If your service was in this country you will be entitled to a credit of $1.00 a day after the first sixty days service; if the amount of your credit is under $50.00 you will receive the bonus in cash; if it is more than $50.00, you will receive a paid-up twenty year endowment policy adjusted to your age at the date the policy is issued.

D. J. J., Pawtucket, R. I.

Q. I was drafted April 5, 1918, and honorably discharged January 16, 1919. I have lost my discharge papers. A. Not necessary. Answer the questions from memory and to the best of your ability. Do not write to Washington. That will only delay action on your application.

H. J. G., Boston.

Q. About 10 years ago I was in the army and received a dishonorable discharge. At the outbreak of the World War I enlisted in the army under an assumed name and served the full period of the war, nine months overseas. I received an honorable discharge. Am I entitled to the bonus? A. When you file an application for the bonus you will be obliged, under the law, to give your real name, and you must also furnish satisfactory evidence that you are the same veteran who served during the World War under the assumed name. The law contains provisions for fine and imprisonment for anyone who knowingly makes any false or fraudulent statement of a material fact in the application. In your application, you should set forth all the facts concerning your enlistment in the World War. Don't worry.

MRS. M. B. McD., Boston.

Q. Will you explain what my husband will have to do to get his bonus. He served 9 months in Camp Devens and 18 months overseas. How much will he receive? A. The application blank contains full instructions. I should say your husband will be entitled to receive the maximum service credit of $625. His adjusted service certificate will amount to a sum equal to two and one-half times that amount.

G. B., Hathorne.

Q. Is the bonus payable in cash or in the form of insurance? I served at Camp Devens from June 22, 1918, to January 28, 1919. Am I entitled? A. The bonus is paid in cash only if the amount which the veteran is entitled to receive is $50 or less. If the credit is more than $50, an adjusted service certificate, which, in other words, is a paid-up twenty year endowment policy, will be issued to the veteran, and the face value of the certificate will vary according to the length of service of the veteran and his age at the time of its issuance.

B. D. C., Brockton.

Q. My wife and I have been separated for nine years. I have a son whom I have seen but once. I have supported them both since our separation. Am I obliged to name my wife or son as my beneficiary in the bonus certificate, or may I name a person not related to me? A. The law gives the veteran the right to name any person he wishes as his beneficiary. Should the veteran die before making application, his unmarried widow would be entitled, under the law, to apply for the bonus. Why not name the boy?

J. J. C., Beebe River, N. H.

Q. I have lost my discharge paper. Where shall I write for a duplicate? A. It will not be necessary for you to obtain a copy of your discharge in order to make application. Answer the questions from memory, and to the best of your ability.

BANK PRESIDENT DEAD IN WOBURN

James Skinner, for thirty-seven years president of the Woburn Cooperative Bank, which he founded in 1887, died at his home, No. 29 Montvale avenue, Woburn, in his ninetieth year. He was a former chairman of the Woburn Board of Selectmen, a former president of the Board of Trade, and until he was taken ill a week ago he had actively managed the affairs of his bank.

CHILD DISAPPEARS, MOTHER IS HELD

Rockland, Me., June 18.—Mrs. Margaret Langston, 28, was held while police dragged a pond in Vinalhaven in the belief she had drowned her ten-weeks' old child.

Conflicting stories told by the mother concerning the disposition of the child aroused suspicion of County Attorney Zelma M. Dwinal, who ordered her held pending investigation.

JOSEPHINE LEONARD AND HER RABBIT

Ten-year-old Josephine Leonard of South Boston is the proud and happy owner of a large white Belgian rabbit, given to her by Howard Thurston, the magician.

During his recent visit to Boston the wizard of magic visited many hospitals and children's institutions as guest of the Boston American, cheering the unfortunate little ones.

He was assisted on some of these visits by Josephine. As a souvenir Mr. Thurston gave the little Boston miss one of his best rabbits when the show closed.

She has named the bunny "Howard," after the donor.

NEW WAR CALL IS SOUNDED BY LA FOLLETTE

Coolidge Is Named in Attack Fathered by the Senator's Spokesman in House

Washington, June 18.—A new declaration of war by the LaFollette progressives on the reactionaries of both the Republican and Democratic parties in Congress was issued by Representative Nelson of Wisconsin in a statement published in the Congressional Record.

Nelson is chairman of the progressive bloc in the House.

President Coolidge is specifically mentioned in the statement in connection with the charge that a concerted effort has been made to destroy the usefulness of the Federal Trade Commission. The statement says:

"The representatives of big business in the House and Senate, and recently the President, have tried to destroy the usefulness for the people of this body. The President has recently made an appointment which may prove to be the turning over to big business of this agency designed to protect the people against the evil practice of monopolies."

USURPER IN POWER.

The statement says further:

"Congress is visibly controlled by a floor leader and the old members who hold the higher places in the organization of the leading committees, into whose grasp the rules centre legislative power. But behind a large majority of these experienced legislators stands, more or less directly, the invisible government of our country.

"That citizen is deceived who thinks that this power is made up of the American voters. A usurper has seized the reins of government and now dominates more or less directly not only the Congress, but also the courts, and now particularly the Cabinet.

GROUP OF FINANCIERS.

"This usurper, it is sufficient to say, is popularly spoken of as 'big business.' By this term all understand a group of financiers, whose headquarters is on or potentially near a well-known street in the very heart of the financial district of our country.

"Defeat of the Howell-Barkley bill and the resolution for repeal of the rate-making provisions of the Esch-Cummins act, Nelson charges, best illustrate that the 'regulars' in the House 'represent the big business interests that send them to Congress.'"

Dancing and Dining News

Not even the approach of warm weather has a disturbing effect upon the gaieties at Healy's, where excellent food has its own competition in the shape of the most spirited downtown cabaret. The featured entertainers are Jack and Lucille Hayes and Francis Feeley. For those who dance the Manhattan Society Orchestra furnishes exactly the right tempo.

The feature attraction at Moseley's on-the-Charles this week will be Barney Rapp's Orchestra, which will be heard for the first time at this dancing resort on Friday evening. Mr. Rapp and his players come to Moseley's direct from a six months' engagement at the Palais Royal in New York, one of Broadway's most widely known cabarets.

* * *

Beachcroft, on the Revere Beach Boulevard, claims the largest dance floor in New England, to which may be added the broad verandas overlooking the ocean. Dancing contests and battles of music between highly trained orchestras are among the regular features of this dance pavilion.

* * *

Both Pemberton Hotel and Pemberton Inn, at Hull, are moving along at mid-summer speed. There is no more attractive shore resort in New England, there being splended facilities for dancing, spirited entertainment by popular artists and specially featured shore dinners. Lambert Brothers' orchestra provides the dance music.

* * *

A wide variety of entertainment and recreation may be found at Buntlang, on the Newburyport Turnpike. Besides the excellent combination dinners, there is ample facility for dancing, with tennis courts and a golf course for the use of patrons who enjoy outdoor activities.

* * *

Bournehurst-on-the-Canal is attracting the attention of motorists by reason of the excellent dance music furnished by the U. S. Sothathan orchestra. A midnight frolic is announced as a regular nightly feature.

* * *

Terrace Gables at Falmouth Heights is one of the popular resorts on the South Shore. Chicken and shore dinners are served in regulation Cape Cod style. The facilities for dancing are excellent, with music by a smart orchestra.

* * *

Warrick Inn at Nantasket is drawing heavy patronage on account of its accessibility to the boats and for motorists. The Inn is said to have been visited by Daniel Webster and is rich in historical interest. There is a spacious dance floor.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz."

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

A few cents buys a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel.

Only A GOOD Used Car Can Be A Bargain

The biggest cost in running a car is not tires, gasoline and oil, but repairs. That is why it is more important to consider a car's mechanical condition rather than its cost price. A Ford car with a dependable motor is more to be preferred than a Rolls-Royce that is always "going wrong." For, after all, an automobile is a conveyance whose worth is based entirely upon the manner in which it serves.

As a rule, an automobile engine is in perfect running condition when it leaves the factory. But, being no more than an intricate assembly of metal parts, and these parts subject to wear, the engine of a used car may possibly be beyond the stage of serviceability. Its actual condition can be determined only by an expert who understands automobiles. To protect and guide its readers in the purchase of used cars, the Boston American has inaugurated a new, free service.

Expert automobile mechanics employed directly by the Boston American, examine every used car advertised in its columns. Each car's actual condition, as these experts find it, is reported on the "Inspected-Insured" blue certificate (reproduced below), which is then pasted on the windshield. Buy only a used car bearing this certificate, and study its report before you invest your money.

If you wish to sell a used car, an expert employed by the Boston American will examine it without charge and place the "Inspected-Insured" certificate on the windshield, thus hastening the sale.

If you wish to purchase a good used car, study the "Inspected-Insured" bargain offerings listed only in the Boston American every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, OR allow the Boston American experts to locate the car you want.

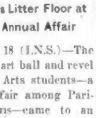
PEARL WHITE DANCES WITH BARE LEGS AT WILD PARIS ART REVELS

BALL ENDS IN RIVER PLUNGE

Pretty Girls Pose in Nude, and Wine Bottles Litter Floor at Students' Annual Affair

Paris, June 18 (I.N.S.)—The annual Quatz art ball and revel of the Beaux Arts students—a traditional affair among Parisian bohemians—came to an end at daybreak today after a few of the male celebrants had cooled their feverish brows by jumping into the Seine River from the bridge which spans the stream in front of the Chamber of Deputies.

The calendar was turned back twenty-six centuries to give a Phoenician setting to the scene. Luna Park dance hall, where the revel took place, was decorated to represent the ancient city of Tyre. Scores of boat prows and war heads had been erected to give the appearance of the busy harbor front of the great Phoenician trading port. There were mammoth papier mache replicas of the Phoenician gods.



Pearl White

But the gods got scant attention after the ceremonies began at 10 o'clock. A few lucky Americans gained entrance, including Pearl White, the motion picture actress, who, dressed in an abbreviated black and gold costume, with her legs bare, danced with the students.

BOTTLES LITTERED FLOOR.

Dancing was made somewhat difficult owing to the great number of champagne bottles which littered the floor with wigs and discarded costumes.

Attention was divided between the dancers and the beautiful girls who posed in the nude as statues. Sources for Phoenician historical materials were scarce, so the students had to fill a great many empty spaces with these living statues.

Each ship prow was filled with white, black and brown "female slaves" whose lithe bodies swayed to the American jazz music.

If the ball did not throw any traditional light upon the era of the Phoenician it did reveal that brunettes are still in high favor in modern Paris.

A prize of twenty-five bottles of champagne was offered for the most perfect female form. A statuesque brunette entered the field against three stunning blondes.

BRUNETTE WINS.

The brunette was acclaimed the winner.

One attraction was the competition among the ateliers (studios for the most risqué stunt. Those competitions left nothing to the imagination.

Many were turned away at the doors, including American tourists, who had heard of the ball and were anxious to see if it was true. Some outsiders obtained admission by posing as contestants, but were put out by husky bouncers, aided by police.

Just before daylight the revellers set out for the Latin Quarter. On the way four American architectural students contended that the traditional custom of bathing in the public fountain of the Place de la Concorde was too tame, so they selected the Seine for a bathing place and swam the river just as the sun came up.

BOY DYING FROM PONY'S KICK

"MAGGIE" AND HER TWO VICTIMS

RESCUER ALSO INJURED BY HOOFS

Little Tommy Ritchie's admiration of Maggie, a Shetland pony which Edward Sorrentino of Arlington rents by the hour to Arlington boys and girls, may cost the five-year-old boy his life.

"Maggie," her fiery temper aroused by a pushing mauling crowd of children which collected about her and her mate as they were being ridden on Park street near the Mystic Valley Parkway, suddenly lashed out from aloft hoofs toward the group of children.

Tommy Ritchie fell unconscious, struck over the eye by one of the pony's hoofs. The boy was rescued from further injury by William J. O'Connell, a former boxer, who rushed out of his store nearby to save the lad from being kicked to death.

As O'Connell reached down to lift the unconscious child Maggie lashed out once more with her heels. They struck O'Connell in the face, knocking him unconscious.

Patrick Igoe of North Cambridge took both victims in his automobile to the Symmes Hospital. O'Connell was quickly revived, but the boy's name was immediately placed on the danger list.

O'Connell saved three of four drowning children when he leaped into the icy waters of the Mystic River on the coldest day of 1917. The fourth child was drowned.

FARRINGTON'S LEAD CUT TO 249 VOTES

Portland, Me., June 18.—With returns from two score small towns in ten counties yet to be received, the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Monday's primaries hung in the balance today.

The nomination conceded to State Senator Frank G. Farrington by his opponent, State Senator Ralph O. Brewster, on the strength of early returns showing a plurality of more than 1,500, became again uncertain as late reports and revised returns in the unofficial count cut into Farrington's lead, reducing it to 249 votes.

According to figures announced with forty-eight towns in remote districts still to be heard from, the totals were: Farrington 46,311, Brewster 46,262, according to the unofficial figures.

Brewster received the support of the Ku Klux Klan as a result of his sponsoring a constitutional amendment to forbid appropriation of State funds for sectarian schools.

United States Senator Hiram Bingham maintained his lead of 16,000 over Frank E. Guernsey, former Congressman, in the race for nomination for the Republican senatorial candidacy.

JAPAN FRIEND OF U. S., SAYS HANIHARA

Ambassador Speaks at Brown University Where He Is Made Doctor of Laws

Providence, June 18.—"Japan, in its dealings with the United States has always believed that as between friends there is no question that cannot be adjusted amicably," Ambassador Hanihara of Japan declared today in an address at Brown University, where he received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

With "such unique and precious history" back of American-Japanese friendship, he said, "the one great question in the minds of my people now is: Is it the true sentiment of the American people to make light of its friendship with the people of Japan, a friendship which has been built up by hard conscientious labor of the two peoples extending over nearly three-quarters of a century, not only for the good of themselves but for the good of the rest of mankind?"

SKETCHES HISTORY.

The Japanese ambassador sketched the history of the relations of the two nations from when Commodore Perry set foot on the shore of Japan, to the signing of the Washington conference treaties. He refrained from any specific mention of the immigration, with its Japanese exclusion provision.

"It is indeed," he said, "a blessing to feel that one is among trusted friends to whom he may open his heart without fear of being misunderstood.

"And I may express the hope," he continued, "that that friendship may survive. Aye! It will survive, if we remain true to our worthy traditions of the past, which is an embodiment of that great human spirit of mutual toleration and esteem."

PEACE IN EAST.

At another point, after relating Japan's efforts to become a bulwark of peace in Far East, he said:

"We Japanese have tried to become a great nation, not only in the attainment of strength sufficient to defend ourselves and protect our weaker neighbors from dangerous aggressions, but also we have striven to be great because we are anxious to serve the cause of humanity. We have been sincerely proud to serve with the great nations of the West, and we shall continue to serve as long as those nations will permit us to do so.

"Japan is a factor for security and commerce and progress, which I sometimes fear, is hardly appreciated by the people of other countries. Sensational talk of rival navies and rival markets and trade routes is prevalent always in discussing and comparing the great powers; the benefits of those powers to each other and to the smaller nations is a less interesting subject."

Here's a Chance to Give Vet a Job As Auto Expert

Have you a job for a wounded veteran who has been trained by the Government as a carburetor expert?

He was a taxi chauffeur and garage helper before the war. He has spent two years with a leading carburetor company and is considered a first class workman. He is looking for placement training with a concern that will offer reasonable assurance of permanent employment, provided he proves his value.

He served in the 104th Engineers, is 23 years old and married, and lives in Boston. If you can use such a man communicate with the Special Committee on Employment of Rehabilitated Veterans, Boston Chamber of Commerce.

FACTORY JOBS CUT 4.2 PER CENT. IN MAY

Washington, June 18 (I.N.S.).—Employment in manufacturing industries in the United States decreased 4.2 per cent in May, while payroll totals decreased 5.1 per cent, and per capital earnings decreased 1 per cent, the Department of Labor announced today.

The figures were based on reports from 8,569 establishments in ninety-two industries covering 2,864,239 employes, whose total earnings during one week in May were $68,078,862.

FIREWORKS MAY CAUSE DEATH OF GIRL

Brookline Child's Clothing Ignited; Passerby Smothers Flames

The critical condition of seven-year-old Catherine Burke of No. 13 Brookline avenue, Brookline, at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, is the argument in favor of safe and sane celebrations.

With other children, the little girl was setting off fireworks at the Brooklineavenue playgrounds when her dress caught fire from one of the fire crackers, the police said.

The other children, becoming frightened at the sight of the burning dress, fled. Little Catherine also started to run, thus fanning the flames.

The cries of the children attracted Joseph McLean of No. 21 Brookline avenue, who ran to the spot, tore off his coat and smothered the flames with the garment, by wrapping it about the child.

The child was then removed to the hospital, where her name is on the danger list. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burke.

Police are investigating a story told the child's mother that a boy set fire to the little girl's dress. They expressed the belief, however, that the affair was accidental.

MISS ROCKEFELLER SAILS FOR EUROPE

New York, June 18.—Miss Abby Rockefeller and Prince Viggo of Denmark, with his bride, formerly Miss Eleanore Green, sailed for Europe on the Aquitania today.

Miss Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was accompanied by her mother, with whom she will spend two months in France. She made no comment on the investigation which followed the second sudden divorce she received in traffic court for speeding.

Abby Rockefeller

Prince Viggo and his bride said they had no plans for the immediate future, but as their tickets were for Southampton it was assumed they would visit London before proceeding to Denmark.

Lowell Plant Closes

Lowell, June 18.—The Lowell plant of the Massachusetts Cotton Mills today announced a three weeks' shutdown between June 23 and July 14. Lack of orders is assigned as the cause. When running full time the mills employ 5,000 persons.

OLD "999" FORD RACER SPEEDED UP

Los Angeles, June 18.—Six speed demons took a fling at driving the famous "999" Ford racing car around an oval yesterday.

The car, which brought fame to Barney Oldfield in 1902, was a trifle slow in comparison with the track record of thirty seconds held jointly by De Palma and Duray. Jack Pettibone made the fastest lap in the old car in fifty-two seconds.

De Palma and Duray had the most trouble in negotiating the course with the old machine, which steers with a tiller instead of a wheel.

In Critical Condition

Danbury, Ct., July 18.—James B. Bennett, the railroad engineer who was severely scalded in the wreck at Cornwall Bridge on the Danbury-Pittsfield line of the New Haven road last Friday, in which two men were killed, is in a critical condition at the Danbury Hospital.

YOUTHS VANISH, MOTHER IN COLLAPSE

Two Cambridge youths are wandering about the country—or are bound for Europe—in search of adventure, while their parents have enlisted the aid of Cambridge, Boston and State police to trace them.

Cameron P. Hoyt Philip Babineau

They are Cameron P. Hoyt, 17 year-old son of Major Percy G. Hoyt, of No. 1 Newport road, Cambridge, an officer at the Army Base, South Boston, and Philip Babineau, Hoyt's chum.

Babineau's mother, Mrs. T. S. Babineau of No. 50 Orchard street, Cambridge, is in danger of a nervous collapse as a result of her son's absence.

Both boys disappeared after they left the Cambridge High and Latin School, June 2, at the completion of the day's session.

PHILIPPINES AT STANDSTILL—WOOD

Manila, June 18 (A.P.).—The Philippines have reached the end of their governmental and educational development under present conditions, Governor-General Leonard Wood declared in an address before the American Chamber of Commerce today.

"There can be no more forward steps until the government income is increased," he declared. "This is possible only by economic development. Capital is regarded in the Philippines with suspicion on account of the fear that its advent into the country will retard independence, but until this fear is allayed and capital is allowed to come here, the economic development of the country will be at a standstill."

EXCLUSION PROTEST COMING IN JAP DIET

Tokio, June 18 (I.N.S.)—America's reply to Japan's exclusion protest, while friendly and conciliatory in tone, implies that the incident is closed so far as Washington is concerned, it was learned this afternoon.

There is considerable speculation as to Japan's next move. It is generally admitted, however, that the American communication will be used as the basis of an attack on the floor of the Diet when that body convenes on June 24.

No Newspaper Can Give A Square Deal Without The Family Circle

THE biggest thing in BUSINESS CIRCLES is the FAMILY CIRCLE. If it wasn't for the family circle there wouldn't be any business circles. And the connecting link between these circles is newspaper circulation. But that circulation, in order to be square, must be circular. It cannot round up business unless it gets round the table. It cannot pull unless it is invited to pull up a chair. All its value as an advertising medium rests squarely on its influence in the Family Circle. But that influence must be established by GUARANTEED HOME DELIVERIES and not left to the loose generalizations of a salesman's zeal.

The Boston American has a HOME-DELIVERED CIRCULATION OF 60,886 copies, exceeding that of all other recorded evening paper circulations combined.

And that is also where most of the other 180,000 Boston Americans go—HOME!

SHERIDAN, REDMOND 'BRAINS,' CAUGHT

'Love Diplomas' Awarded to 42 Wellesley Graduates

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE COMMONPLACE

By Dr. Frank Crane

THOSE who love negatives will love the longest. The trouble with high colors is that they die out in their satisfaction.

Those who love the green grass endure longer than those who love the pretty flowers.

Man cannot go from drunkenness to drunkenness, from high spot to high spot. Most of the traveling is by way of the valley.

Therefore, those who love the more somber colors and sounds will get more satisfaction out of life than those who live from thrill to thrill.

Nature herself has her bird-songs now and then, but all the time her winds are softly whispering, not sighing, and the bees are droning.

Always the unusual is on the background of the usual and we must learn to admire backgrounds if we wish to have a permanent admiration for Nature and her works.

Sometimes the wind blows and there is a high storm, but all the time there is some wind and the surf is beating.

The older one gets, the more one seeks the consolation of the drabs, for he learns that the high colors are the privilege of youth and that most of the sharp sounds and striking appearances are but delusions.

Nothing so bores as the commonplace.

After the day's show the night comes on and, to those of contemplative mood, there is more splendor then the day. The day was its sights and shadows, its striking contrasts. The night has no shadow.

The light of the stars is not seen as the sun, but all the hosts of the skies shine now and the stars are not to see by, but to look at. They are rather an adornment of the universe.

The hours I love to spend viewing heavy storm clouds. For clouds that are lines of energy.

The night is for meditation, the day for action, reverence and all activities.

There is no blame I find for the world dissatisfaction. It has not to be suppressed, for, after all, life is made up mostly of this.

I think of all the sins I look upon Nature which, in all of her energies seems to be so quiet and passive and yet so relentless and enduring.

I look upon the tree. It moves not as I do, is altogether unvocal. It has not the high joys which I have, not the poignant sorrows. Yet it was here before I was, and it shall be here after I am gone.

All proud Nature that does and produces has the unhurrying stamp of Eternity.

TRIBE WIN TODAY MEANS VIRTUAL TIE FOR FOURTH PLACE

PIRATES WIN AND LOSE

By NICK FLATLEY

A virtual tie for fourth place is among the possibilities for the Braves today. If the Bannies can wallop the Pirates once more, and the Reds assm. another licking, Boston and Cincinnati will be practically all tangled up.

The Reds will have a slight advantage in the matter of [illegible] but doesn't mean [illegible]. With the optimistic "ifs" happening, the two clubs would stand like this:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Reds	26	24	.491
Braves	24	26	.480

BRAVES MUST WIN TODAY.

The Braves really need the afternoon a pastime. They must [illegible] to get the long end of the stand against the western invasion which concludes today. Thus far, they have won six and lost just as many. Not so good, perhaps but not so bad, either. And the Wigwam boys are only five games behind the leading Giants, which isn't any kind of a gap, with the first third of a season just winding up.

We're not predicting pennants or drives for the [illegible] parent fact is [illegible] kind of respectable [illegible] fielding. It would be up bouncing around the first division. The Tribal fly chasers, especially in the [illegible] ningham has been nursing a few bruised ribs, has been woefully weak.

OUTFIELD NOT STRONG.

It was directly responsible for seventh inning run that tied up the first section of the holiday double header which was [illegible] endangered the second section of the same several times, but Timothy McNamara, pitching as well as any body could, refused to be denied.

Guy Bravo dropped into first on counter, 5 to 2, regardless of some great pitching right to the finish by Jim Yeargin, then pulled out the second one, 1 to 0, the credit for Timothy having much the best of he spectacled Lee Meadows in a fine mound duel.

A mighty big crowd, some 18,000, watched the two Brave boy pitchers unfurl great games, and just had to realize that the latter has possibilities, with a little strengthening of the defense. The fans are almost as enthusiastic about the newest inhabitants as they are about the box and a spurt over the next few weeks will make the middle of the summer very prosperous for the Wigwam proprietors.

BOTH GAMES ARE TORRID.

Both divisions of the dual collision were nip and tuck. The Pirates pulled out the first one in the ninth when they chased over three runs, mostly because of a couple of very fortunate blows. The Braves did all their scoring in the second inning and might have been at it yet had not Casey Stengel, first up, been picked off the bag, after he exploded a fierce single to right.

Casey claimed a balk, but they don't call 'em in the N. L. until a conference of umpires takes a vote and otherwise delays matters. One was pinned on young Yeargin later on after duo Wilson had [illegible] didn't make any difference. The umpires, we think, should be a bit more watchful in this particular [illegible].

PADGETT COMING TO FORE.

Small Ernest Padgett, who [illegible] doubled[illegible] one of the great finds of the season, though you don't hear much about him, knocking off the sole counter in the nightcap, busting a hilarious double against the scoreboard after Mr. Stengel had established the foundations for another rally with a solid crack to left.

The tiny Padgett is now mauling the marble for .314, and fielding as well as any third baseman. He's the smallest player in the big show, but he has as much courage as any body, and doesn't let the big boys knock him around to any appreciable extent. And he hits the ball as hard as the next one, too.

HARVARD EAGER TO EVEN UP SERIES WITH YALE

Lineup at Soldiers Field

HARVARD	YALE
Jenkins, shortstop	Lindley, right field
Campbell, first base	Ewing, shortstop
Gordon, right field	O'Hearn, first base
Todd, left field	Mallory, catcher
Saniborski, catcher	Hatcher, third base
Hammond, second base	Weare, left field
Rogers, right field	Neale, centre field
Hill, third base	Kaikee, second base
Spalding, pitcher	Ashburn, pitcher

[illegible] ball game will pitch for Harvard in the second game of the series at Soldiers Field today. Coach Mattery is confident that the [illegible] will even up the series and force a third game.

[illegible] form. Second baseman Loon Kaikee and Pitcher Harold "Doc" Pond are suffering from [illegible] Stones.

Wood, [illegible] about starting either of them yesterday but both came through without a mishap to their injured digits.

[illegible] was received, practice before the Crescent Athletic Club game a week ago, and that of Saturday's game Monday. Wood was in doubt until yesterday noon [illegible] Mattery [illegible] to bring in Ian Lindley to second base, [illegible] Ingram in right field. He says that he will stand pat on his line-up of yesterday, except that he plans to start Frank Ashburn on the mound.

ASHBURN TO PITCH FOR YALE.

Ashburn has outstripped the veteran Henry Scott in steadiness, Scott will be used for relief duty. Ashburn [illegible] and his team pay [illegible] but [illegible] expect [illegible] one of varsity nines [illegible] pairings in baseball and three in hockey and football.

Yale's base running in yesterday's opening game established a riotous exhibition on the paths as certain [illegible] in Cambridge today. Yale stole five sacks on Cheek, Billy Neale capturing [illegible] and Charley O'Hearn two, although Neale's advances was scored technically as a catcher's wild throw.

Yale will probably send more pinch [illegible] into the bout this afternoon, reserve catchers Phil Hinchliffe and Winslow Lovejoy and substitute outfielder Ingram getting a trial.

Tim Durant, who was used in right field [illegible], he was injured is out of baseball for the rest of his college course. He was hit with a pitched ball in the springfield College game and his hearing will be permanently affected.

The outcome of yesterday's game has caused the opinion to settle down among Yale men that a third match will be necessary to settle the series. Yale barely need out victory against a Harvard pitcher who has not received regular training or box duty this spring and Spalding is regarded as certain to turn the Eli back today.

If this happens the nines will remain in Boston Thursday and go to the boat race in New London Friday.

INDIAN PRINCE HAS BIG STABLE OF RACERS

London, June 18.—The most picturesque figure in turfdom of the world is Agha Khan, the Indian, whose horses were among the most sensational performers on the British tracks of 1923.

Agha Khan, which means Great Commander Prince, is one of the wealthiest men in the world. His fortune has come through tribute. He is the spiritual leader of half of the Mohammedans and the religion provides that through the year each of his subjects shall send to him gifts of money.

When Mohammed died, his followers split into two divisions. Agha Khan is the ruler of the Shiah sect, which has approximately 11,000,000 members. If each sect Agha Khan only $2 in tribute yearly—which sum is regarded as insignificant—then his annual income would be beyond $,000,000,000.

Agha Khan, like most of the princes we have educated in England. Born in Bombay in 1875, he went to England at an early age and studied at Cambridge. He was a brilliant student, and earned many honors. After leaving college he was vested with certain decorations by Queen Victoria. In 1900 since then Agha Khan has been accorded many honors by the kings of England. The present king made him Grand Commander of the Indian Empire, practically the greatest gift that could be bestowed upon him.

B. C. WINS OVER VERMONT IN 10TH INNING

Boston College closed its home baseball season yesterday at the Heights with a win over Vermont University, 12 to 11. The game went 10 innings and was one of the weirdest seen in these parts this season.

Golfing Scores

The opening of the golf clubs was [illegible] about all the New England golf club courses as many of the [illegible] took part in the holiday tournaments.

In the Greater Boston district H. H. Marden at Belmont Springs Country Club was low scorer with 74.

At the Oakley Country Club Charlie Sickel had a morning score of 74, while he figured around to 74 for the matinee meet.

E. S. Simpson at the Commonwealth did a good job in clicking back a 79 in the handicap medal play, while E. F. Stratton in the foursomes at Brae-Burn nicked the sphere for 78.

C. H. Carpenter took the club honors for best scores during morning and afternoon playing. In the mixed foursome, Miss Bournazel and E. T. Keefe brought home the best joint card, doing it in 78.

A. H. Potter was the net winner in the Class A tournament at Belmont in the medal handicap, while the same honor was awarded C. A. Russell in the Class B tourney. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Harris took away the prizes in the mixed foursome.

Prizes were on hand at the Charles River Country Club and A. C. Fuller and A. M. Tewksbury, Jr., were medal winners in the Class A and B tournaments respectively.

At Woodland, H. Crosbie got best net in Class A, and H. W. Godfrey took the prize during the matinee Class B tournament.

The best scores in the four ball were turned in by J. H. Hoss and [illegible] M. Purves, who were teamed together.

First Aid for Tennis Fans

The Boston American has arranged with the United States Lawn Tennis Association to answer direct any questions regarding interpretation of the playing rules. Readers may have their questions answered by addressing J. B. Gillooly, Sporting Editor of this paper.

Games Wanted

(Replies to Challenges Will Be Taken Care of If Addressed to Boston American Sporting Department.)

Among the fast semi-pro nines in the State is the Cambridge Red Sox. Many of the star local ball tossers of the University City are playing their best brand of ball with the Red Hose outfit, among them being Ernie Williams, pitcher, who formerly twirled for the Braves. Teams desiring a good attraction communicate with F. Cabana, No. 15 Lincoln street Cambridge, or phone University 2628-J between 5 and 10 evenings.

F. Cabana.

The Lamson Baseball Club of East Boston want Saturday, Sunday and twi[illegible] games with leading amateur and semi-pro teams in the State, away from home. Phone Frank Agnew, East Boston 0280-R, between 6 and 7 evenings.

The Triple A of Malden would like to arrange games with fast 12-14-year-old teams in Greater Boston. For games write Jack Chernack, No. 6 Coburn street, Malden.

The Notre Dame A. A. of South Boston is again on the diamond looking for games with leading 15-16-year-old teams in Greater Boston. Teams desiring games communicate with Patrick J. Kane by calling South Boston 2742-R.

The Roxbury Catholic Club has a few open dates and desires games with the leading semi-pro teams in New England. Teams looking for good attraction communicate with Roxbury Catholic Club by phoning Jamaica 1630-M after 6 evenings.

The Suburban Boys' Club has put a banner group of players on the diamond and seeks games with only the best 14-15-year-old nine in the State. Write to Alden Keating, No. 8 Chapman place Cambridge, or phone University 2420-W.

The Revere City Club challenges only the strongest teams in the State. The following preferred: Newton Town Team, Taxonville Maling, No. Cantabs of Cambridge. Write to Charles Saben, No. 223 Revere street, Winthrop, or call Ocean 2158-M.

The Princeton Independents of Lowell, one of the strongest teams in the State, has a few open dates for Saturdays and Sundays during June, July and August. Write to William A. Hart, No. 86 West street, Lowell.

The Assumption Catholic Club of East Boston wants games away from home with strong amateur and semi-pro teams. Communicate with Frank Agnew, telephone East Boston 0280 between 6 and 7.

The Castleonville A. C. of Salem wants to book games away from home for July 4, afternoon, or any Saturday or Sunday during July and August. Write to William Trembley, No. 6 Harris street, Salem, or phone Salem 1860, days, and either 1-9-M or 71489 after 6 evenings.

The Boston Cubs, a fast aggregation of colored baseball players, desire games away from home with any fast semi-pro teams. Telephone Percy Tucker, Back Bay 2601.

TIGERS SHOVE SOX INTO 3D PLACE

Detroit, Mich., June 18.—Howard Ehmke's heart was broken when the Tigers beat him and the Red Sox, 7 to 4. The defeat drops the Sox to third place, two full games behind the pace-making Yankees and slightly less than a game behind the Tigers.

There is nothing that would give Ehmke more delight than plastering the Tigers and humbling Ty Cobb. But this was not Ehmke's day. The Tigers seemed to know just when to swing and made a dozen hits, including three triples and two doubles, all of which long slams worked into the making of runs.

It is four straight defeats for the Red Sox, three of them here and the other in Cleveland Saturday. They now have a standing of six wins and nine losses for the road trip. It seemed a good bet that they would beat the Tigers and George Dauss yesterday but Ehmke had a tough afternoon and could not fool or quell those Tiger war clubs in time of stress.

McGRATH ELECTED BROOKLINE CAPTAIN

Jay McGrath, [illegible] on the Brookline High nine, has been elected captain of the team for the 1924 season. McGrath played a steady game [illegible] his position this season and was one of the best short stops in the Suburban League.

ROYAL HUNT CUP WON BY DINKIE

Owen Heath Tingle, June 18 (A.P.)—Linkie, by Poinnsern, out of Rosdal, owned by Mrs. R. Jefferey, won the Royal Hunt Cup, of £1,150, today. King George's Weatherwise was second and the Duke of Westminster's Twelve Pointer was third.

CONDENSER MAY BE TURNED ON THIS MOUNT

Slots in Panel Makes Change of Condenser-Coil Tilt Easy

This is an answer to a question from the Irishman, who wanted to change the tilt of the coil and condenser without removing the panel. Jobs [illegible] for two types of coil mount, the right being for the [illegible] type. The other is for the basketweave coil, like the Paragon, Silver-Marshall, etc.

The units may be 3½ of an inch wide and all of the mounting [illegible] panel must be cut [illegible] and a slot [illegible] means the mounting [illegible] shaft to be [illegible] the same as usual.

Should it be [illegible] the entire condenser can be mounted [illegible] every [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] tightening [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] fast [illegible].

CONDENSER MOUNTING

In the Super and the Superflex, as well as in the neutrodyne, the angle at which the rod is tilted is sometimes important. If the holes for the condenser mounting are drilled like those above, the angle is easy to change

Radio Queries

1—What is the size of the wire used in making the four moderwound coils in the Tyrdyn receiver shown in the American on the 6th? 2—What is the number of turns of wire for each web? 3—Are there to be secured or made up to order in Paris?

J. [illegible]

1—No. 24 E. Abbé receiver, five-tube, two-stage of a loader has been used.

Hate hint [illegible] Superflex, but cannot get a peep out of it. Have tried other crystals.

A. J. F.

Clearly an open circuit somewhere, as when plugging in the set will work after a fashion even without a crystal.

I have a 3-tube Ultraflex and also three Silver transformers. What is the ratio of these and can they be used in my set?

Ivan M.

These are designed for DeForest sets only, and would have to be changed up if you could get them to work. They are radio-frequency transformers, and the ratio is of minor importance.

Can you suggest an improvement for the Crosley set? My set is [illegible] and Weaver. What should be the [illegible] coil turns?

TODAY

when the Mexicans ordered the English representative out of Mexico, and barricaded him in his house, shutting off food supplies, they got a message from MacDonald not at all pacific in tone.

A labor pacifist will fight, if the nation wants fighting. And a Socialist Prime Minister, with his heart wide open to the oppressed German working man, will close his heart with a bang if any German gold is in sight. Old nature is stronger than new theory.

THE EAST and other sections of the country have been "enjoying" all sorts of weather except the right kind. Rain without end, sunshine only a few hours a week—then a scientific announcement that the sun appears to be splitting in two, perhaps getting ready to form a double sun, one-half revolving around the other.

REASSURE YOURSELF on that point. The sun seems to lack its usual energy, due, perhaps, to violent storms on the sun's surface or trouble with solar radio activity. But it isn't breaking up.

The "breaking" might be disturbing. Such a thing could easily change the temperature of this earth by several hundred degrees one way or the other. And one hundred degrees would be more than enough to end all of us.

THAT OR something like it has undoubtedly happened millions of times in the history of the universe, individual planets or entire solar systems being wiped out like an ant hill in the garden path.

There would be one comfort, however; every living thing on earth, from Coolidge and Dawes to the smallest microbe, would all go together. That would make it easy to bear.

YOU ARE told that public ownership is always a failure and can't possibly succeed. The public is too stupid, its officials are too dishonest to make public ownership a success.

At the same time you find the great gas company of New York city announcing that it can't possibly sell gas for less than $1.35. It is getting that price now, thanks to the assistance of the court that calls a lower price confiscatory.

GO TO JACKSONVILLE, Fla., or to any one of a dozen other American cities, and you will find that municipal management can supply gas to the citizens for a price lower than that which a New York monopoly calls "confiscation."

HERRIOT AND HYMANS IN CONFERENCE

Paris, June 18 (A.P.).—Premier Herriot had an hour's conference today with Foreign Minister Hymans of Belgium. Nothing regarding the conversation was given out by the Foreign Office, but M. Hymans on leaving described it as satisfactory—a simple exchange of views on the general situation. M. Herriot will leave Paris for London Saturday, and after his conference with Prime Minister MacDonald over the week-end will return here by way of Brussels, stopping there with a conference with Premier Theunis.

COBBLER POTATO THE FAVORITE NOW

Trenton, N. J., June 18.—Because of the increasing popularity with the consumer of the cobbler, or round-type potato, over that of the giant potato, the past table in New Jersey plantings of 75 per cent. giants and 25 per cent. cobblers, this year has been completely reversed.

Farmers point out that in the past the giant has been the favorite by reason of its size and enormous yield. The giant is called a variety best suited for making potato chips and for French frying, but it is heavy and soggy for boiling or mashing, which has shifted the demand to the cobbler.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

MAJORCA is a beautiful island.

It has splendors older than many on the continent, castles on rocky summits that withstood the attacks of Moorish pirates, and harbors whose picturesqueness cannot easily be forgotten. And yet beautiful and conveniently located as it is, Majorca has been neglected by tourists.

Majorca is the largest of the Balearic Islands off the southern coast of Spain and is a province of that country. It has not, however, borrowed from Spain many of her customs. Majorca, in other words, is not a mirror of Spain, as detached provinces sometimes are, but—Majorca. Her people have remained simple and her standard of living is correspondingly free from the frills of her mother country.

The nobility, aristocracy and peasantry of Spain, for example, have little meaning in Majorca. The mayor and fishermen are pals—play, perhaps, in the same town band—and even the maid and her mistress are friends. The mistress does not feel that she is on a high social plane than the woman she employs to help her in her house. And indeed the servant is very apt to be a daughter of an official in the town, who is of much more importance than the master of the house in which she works. She is, therefore, looked upon as a friend or a member of the family and treated with the proper respect.

However, few families enjoy the luxury of employing a servant. Majorcans are hard-working people and the women, for the most part, do their own work in their homes and gardens. The gardens are lovely.

There are olive trees over a thousand years old. Fig and orange trees entice and grape arbors shade the roses.

Perhaps some day Majorca will win the fame its beauty deserves!

The Helping Hand

Good Winter Coat and $5

Editor Helping Hand:

After reading Mrs. F. P.'s letter I thought perhaps she could use a good Winter coat for a child about ten years old. I don't know the ages of all her children, but with that I thought she would have one that could use this coat. I am sorry that I haven't a carriage, but I am enclosing a check for five dollars, to be used for anything Mrs. F. P. needs otherwise. MRS. E. J. W.

Thank you. The money has been forwarded to Mrs. F. P., who surely needs it. You will be glad to know that a fuel contribution has been offered to Mrs. F. P., and we are now struggling with the problem of getting it to her. Is there someone willing to take it down in Middleboro in his car?

Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I have an elderly relative who is almost crippled from rheumatism and he needs clothes of every description, but it is hard to find any second-hand clothes, as he takes size 48 or 50. I have been thinking that through the Helping Hand I might find somebody who had clothes in fairly good condition and that size. I am poor myself, but will not have the clothes as a gift, but pay what I can, and if so be, the money may be used by the Helping Hand for some one more in need. MISS A. B. C.

I. C. F. Is Grateful

Editor Helping Hand:

I want to thank you and the kind people who sent clothing to the old man, I. C. F., and to tell you he was very grateful. L. M. E.

In Fair Condition

Editor Helping Hand:

I have one herring bone coat, size 40, one plush coat, about 38 size; one skirt, one jacket, size 38, one Summer straw hat, all in fair condition. These may be of use to some one. MRS. F. S. B.

Thank you. We have sent the address to Mrs. L. W., whose husband has been laid off and who has only two days' work a week herself.

Generous Offers

The editor wishes to express her sincere thanks to the following people for their generous offers of assistance to those in need. They have been sent the addresses requested.

Mrs. E. K., Winthrop—Baby carriage for Mrs. M. B.; Miss E. D., Lynn—Sport coat and other things for Mrs. C. S. 3. Mrs. R. I. C., Boston—Suit, overcoat and other clothes for Mrs. N. C. 3.

Mrs. A. L. S., Boston—More help for Mrs. E. W. W. C. C., Swampscott—Clothing for S. M. P. and W. O. C., Swampscott—Clothing for W. J. R. Mrs. H. L. C., Dorchester—Baby clothes for Mrs. M. A. C.

Mrs. A. A. E., Watertown—Dress and clothing for Mrs. H. J. Mrs. W. J. B., Cambridge—Stockings for Mrs. C. J.'s little girl; A. S., Everett—Two boxes of clothes for Mrs. J.

Mrs. C. A. P., South Boston, and Mrs. T. H. S., North Attleboro—Old white clothes for Mrs. E. A. P. Mrs. D. G., Everett—Children's clothing for Mrs. M. S. Miss M. F. N., Taunton—Bicycle for A. S. and books for Stanley.

The following people who have offered to send reading matter to little lame Stanley: Mrs. G. P. C., Roxbury; E. W. H., Marshfield; R. M. S., Fitchburg; Mrs. A. T. R., Dover; E. P., Boston; Mrs. A. H., Lowell; R. [illegible], Arlington.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Maloney

Boston Health Commissioner.

SCARCELY a day passes but that a friend tells me he cannot sleep at nights and asks my advice on the matter.

While sleeplessness may be due to some organic trouble that needs the attention of an expert, yet in a very great majority of the cases the cure may be found without trouble. Hard work is the cure.

Dr. Maloney.

In this day and age a great many people believe that hard work is something to be shunned. There is a spirit of either pride or laziness that makes manual labor something to be looked down upon—a spirit that is entirely wrong.

"Hard work makes a soft bed" is an old adage that is brim full of truth. If during the day the muscles of your body are sufficiently exercised you will sink into a deep and reposeful slumber no matter how hard your slumber couch may be.

The average man working in an office and riding to and from his place of employment in an automobile exercises but few of his muscles during the course of a day.

A two-hour session with the lawn mower at the end of such a day is a tonic more potent than any that can be written by the ablest physician.

If you are unable to sleep at nights seek some form of manual labor that will bring your unused muscles into play. You won't need to worry then about the comfiness of your cot when you retire.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I am knockkneed and wish you would tell me if there is any possible cure for it. MISS S. W.

I am afraid that there is nothing that can be done for knockknees that would offer any reasonable hope of success. The bone deformities of this kind are most easily remedied in childhood.

Last October I underwent an operation for appendicitis, and since then, I don't lose weight. I am five feet all the time, and about 5 feet 7 inches in height and weigh about 200 pounds. Now I have a pain in my chest. MRS. J. W.

It seems to me that the reason for your feeling so well physically and looking ambitious is due to the fact that you are so much overweight. Your weight and that you are trying to nourish and maintain too much extra flesh. I think that if you could reduce by diet and regular exercise at least 25 pounds you would feel a good deal better and the distressing symptoms which you experience would disappear. I think that you should see your physician regarding the pains in your chest.

I have stomach burns and at times my hands seem to sink a deal. I have bothered that way for the last few years. E.

From what you say, I would advise an examination by a competent physician to determine the diagnosis and outline a course of treatment for your trouble.

Have been suffering from epileptic fits for fifteen years. Have tried several different kinds of medicine, but get no relief. Kindly advise me what to do. L. T.

Am sorry to say that if you have been suffering from epileptic fits for 15 years, hope of complete recovery is very remote. However, would advise you to go to a hospital and have a complete physical examination to determine whether or not there is any organic condition which might be the cause of your trouble.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

What has made America what it is today?

* * *

John F. Layng of Buchanan & Layng Corporation, New York, in a letter received mail an hour ago, says: "The basic thing that has made our country great is transportation." This comes, naturally, from a man who is interested in transportation. In his eyes, the thing that has made the country great is transportation.

* * *

We're an egotistic lot, we humans. Each of us glorifies his own importance, the importance of the part he or she plays in the world. We all like to make ourselves believe that the world revolves around us and the particular activity we are identified with.

* * *

Good Housekeeping and other women's publications declare, and declare with all sincerity, "The home is the foundation stone of all that is worthy in the nation. Unless the home is right, the nation cannot be right."

* * *

"What preserves this country from speeding to wreck and ruin?" fervently exclaimed a minister the other Sunday. "I tell you, it is the church. Remove the influence of the church, of all the churches, and you could not enroll enough policemen to maintain law and order. It is religion that begets righteousness, and without righteousness a nation perishes. Look what has happened in Russia."

* * *

"Civilization is transportation" is the declaration proudly made by railroad leaders. "Without our railroads where would America be?" they demand.

* * *

Did you ever hear a leader of the steel industry let himself go? Did you ever hear him tell the world the part steel has played in our scheme of things? The steel industry has long been regarded as greatest industry "in the land," your steel man ringingly declares. "Without iron and steel you could have no railroads, no modernly-equipped homes, no proper sewerage systems, no implements or machinery for the adequate tilling of the soil to give us the food upon which we all depend for our very existence." To the steel man, steel is king.

When I was a printer's devil, it was impressed upon me that education and civilization had their birth when Gutenberg invented movable type, and that, therefore, we printers were engaged in the most important work in the whole world. Without us, all would be ignorance and darkness.

And, of course, every cub reporter and every editor proclaims it blushing tones that the very existence of our glorious Commonwealth depends upon one thing, the running of a free, untrammeled press. Muzzle our now free press and the Dark Ages would again overtake us.

Yes, we are an egotistic lot, we humans. But is it not true that we are? Does not the thought that what we are engaged in is vitally important help to infuse our daily tasks with dignity and to spur us on to give to the world the best that is in us?

* * *

Only, would not the world move along with less friction and generate more harmony and happiness if each of us, more profoundly convinced of the worthwhileness of what we ourselves are doing, would only recognize that the labors of other people are necessary to our very existence? I once asked John D. Rockefeller to what he chiefly attributed his success. "To others," he instantly replied.

To what do we owe our existence, our daily sustenance, physical and mental? To others.

* * *

Suppose we try not to forget that.

GOLDMAN, SACHS HELP EDUCATION

Goldman, Sachs & Co., bankers of New York, have given $500,000 towards the Harvard Business School, and members of the Sachs family have given $100,000 for the Harvard Fine Arts Department; as part of Bishop Lawrence's campaign for the extension of the material services of Harvard University, through raising a minimum of $10,000,000, of which $3,000,000 will be for chemistry, $7,000,000 for the Law School and $5,000,000 for the business school.

QUOTATIONS HIGHER IN GRAIN FUTURES

Quotations were higher in Chicago grain futures. Prices: Wheat—July, 116 to 116 2; September, 117¾ to 117½; December, 119¾ to 120. Corn—July, 82⅝ to 84; September, 83¾ to 83⅝; December, 75⅜ to 76. Oats—July, 46⅜; September, 42¾ to 42⅝; December, 44⅜.

PRICE MOVEMENTS IN COTTON NARROW

New York cotton futures price movements were narrow, except in the December position, which showed a loss of 30 points to 24.85. July sold at 28.52, off 2 points; October at 25.68, off .07, and January at 24.70, off .07.

Liberty Bond Prices

Liberty bond prices, wired: 3½s, $101.03½; 1st 4¼s, $102; 2d 4¼s, $101.24⅝; 3d 4¾s, $102; 4th 4¼s, $101.30⅝; New 4¼s, $104.07½.

Tobacco Issues Are Sold Higher in Mixed New York Stock Market Dealings

MATHIESON IS FEATURE ON UPSIDE

Tobacco issues were sold higher in mixed New York stock market dealings with rail money again at 2 per cent.

Schulte pfd. rose 3. Tobacco Products common and "A" both rose a point or better. Mathieson Alkali was a feature on the upside, rising around 3 to a new 1924 top.

Atlantic Refining sank around 3 to a new 1924 low. Brooklyn Union Gas set a new top for the year.

In the afternoon there were point or better gains for Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio. Woolworth lowered 2% before rallying.

At the same time there were point or more losses for Chandler, U. S. Rubber and Associated Oil, the last-named at a new 1924 low. Goodyear pfd. was up over 2.

Perplexing price movements discouraged traders from increasing their commitments and contributed to the market's lack of vigor. None of the customary leaders showed important changes with the exception of Baldwin, which reported gains on reports of expanded operations but later lost its gain on hasty realizing.

U. S. Steel preferred dropped 2 points, probably in reflection of the unfavorable tone of weekly steel trade reviews, which reported no improvement in forward business with operations averaging 45 per cent of capacity and 50 being in some plants as low as 30 per cent.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, Island Creek Coal and Hood Rubber each ranged a point. United Fruit was up over 2.

In New York bond trading Pennsylvania has reached a new 1924 top, as did also Belgian issues.

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

"Every time you buy one of these blankets," a New Bedford store tells New Bedford women concerning a local product, "you help to keep a New Bedford loom running." There's the proper spirit!

A Brockton shoe store makes a window display of shoes made outside New England, apparently a clear case of "coals to Newcastle." Only one shop in town boasts that "We sell New England shoes."

And Now, Minute Men, the Mighty Task of "Selling New England TO New England!"

A company of New England agriculturists, meeting in a Boston hotel a few days ago for the purpose of discussing one of the pressing problems of their industry, felt for a few minutes as if the first thing on their program for the afternoon would have to be the drafting of a resolution thanking the hotel manager for his thoughtfulness.

Heaped high in several beautiful big dishes on the assembly table were some of the best looking apples the New England farmers had ever seen.

"This apple is a stranger to me," said one of the conferees, holding it up for more minute examination, "wonder where it came from?"

There was some discussion of the subject, pending the arrival of the chairman, and a man from Western Massachusetts made bold to telephone to the hotel office and ask the question.

The apples came all the way from the Pacific Coast; came clear across the continent, to a land which boasts of its "eating apples"; came to be placed before a group of serious-minded New England farmers who had come together to talk shop.

The incident is not peculiar.

We in New England appear to have a way of talking about our products but not using them, not insisting upon them.

In one of the suburban cities not far from Boston one of the men most active in the local Board of Trade is building an apartment house. This gentleman, head of one of the most important retail establishments on the main street, is the moving spirit behind the local "Buy at Home" propaganda.

In the building of his apartment house, Mr. Merchant was careful to employ the services of a local architect, brother member of the Board of Trade, and he was likewise shrewd enough to see that the work went to a local contractor.

On Monday our friend drove out to Homedale Avenue to see how the work was getting along. Great quantities of shingles were being unloaded from a motor truck. The dry goods man inspected one of the bundles and found that his shingles had come from the Middle West.

"See here," he said to the contractor, "couldn't you buy shingles made nearer home?"

The contractor "allowed" that he could; he had not thought the matter important.

"Important!" exclaimed the merchant, "I call it the first importance. If money is spent in New England, we get purchasing power in New England, and where there isn't purchasing power there cannot be prosperity."

And that incident isn't peculiar, either, unless in the fact that the man who was furnishing the money, and who disliked to see his money going out of New England, made a protest.

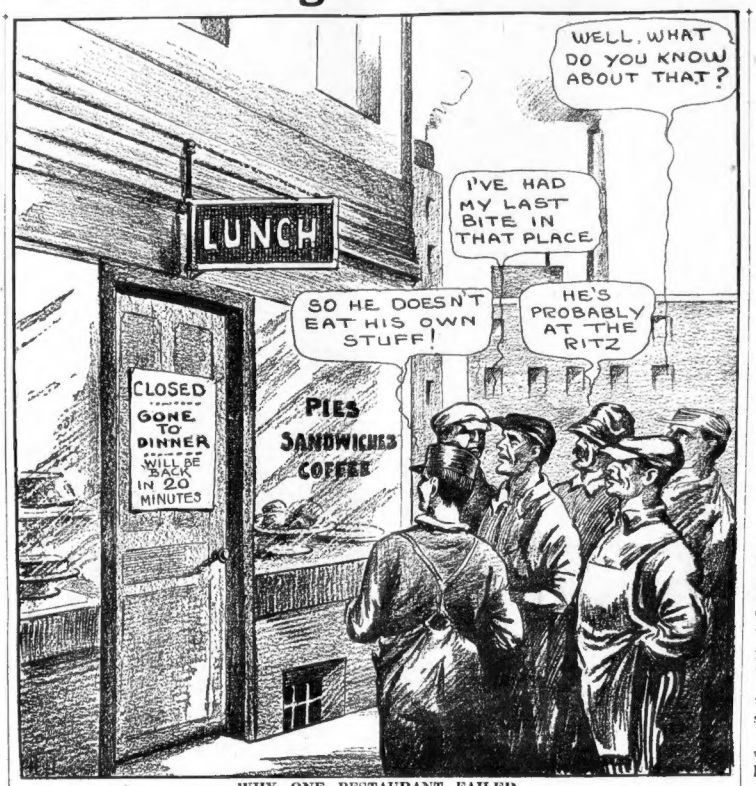
Not so long ago a terrific roar went up from certain quarters because of the report that the United States Shipping Board had gone abroad to buy the equipment of the steamship Leviathan.

Something might be said for the Shipping Board, on the ground that the Leviathan, to be prosperous, must get business on both sides of the pond and must therefore establish good will on both sides, but because of the insistence on "American ships for American travelers," in Shipping Board publicity, the incident caused considerable criticism.

If we are going to successfully sell New England outside of New England, Minute Men, we have got to believe in New England. We must first sell New England to ourselves.

Patriotism begins with the home town, with the home section. If your town, or your section, isn't worth boosting, it isn't worth living in.

In your travels into the Middle West, the Far West or the New South, you are continually meeting men and women who thoroughly believe in those sections and who are by no means backward in proclaiming that faith. They not only believe in their part of the country, but they are ready and willing to back that belief with service and with cash.



WHY ONE RESTAURANT FAILED

And that is the spirit we in New England must cultivate. Otherwise, we are ultimately going to find ourselves in the very difficult position of the man who, a few years ago, opened a little luncheon-place in one of the industrial neighborhoods of Brooklyn, not far from the waterfront.

It wasn't much of a place, but it was extremely busy from about 11:30 to 1:30 every day, and the gentleman was making a living from it.

One day, at 2:15 o'clock, a group of workers from one of the nearby loft-buildings came to the little shop for their usual sandwiches and coffee and found the place closed. On the door they read these words, written in pencil on a piece of wrapping paper:

"GONE TO DINNER."

It wasn't necessary to use the newspapers to get that message and its significance around the neighborhood, and before the month was out there was another sign on the door. The second sign was, "To Let."

As these lines are written the two great industries of New England, shoes and textiles, continue to be in the doldrums.

These periods of semi-depression are sometimes good for us. They make us think. They compel us to check up on ourselves. Down in New Bedford, the slump in the textile industry has given birth to a movement, as yet confined to that city, with a double slogan, "Buy American-Made Goods" and "Keep Our Home Industries Going."

If you are getting any mail from New Bedford you will read these slogans on a little green stamp, applied to the envelope, not far from the postage-stamp.

The idea appears to have originated with the manager and treasurer of the New Bedford Textile Company.

This gentleman's organization makes what is known as "cotton banding" for the big textile mills, banding being a cotton rope made into belting for operating spinning machinery. Much of the machinery in a spinning-room is driven by these small endless belts.

When business is good in the textile world the 61 cotton mills of New Bedford employ 40,000 workers. They make the best "fine" cotton goods in all the world.

At present some of the New Bedford mills are running four and some five days a week.

The banding business just naturally took a slump with the slump in cottons, and when the manager read that, notwithstanding trade conditions, the mills of England were rushing their product to America by the shipload, he conceived his "Buy American-Made Goods" slogan.

His first thought was to make it "Buy New Bedford-Made Goods," or, maybe, "Buy New England-Made Goods."

That there is room for such a campaign in New Bedford—as there is, indeed, in almost every other New England city and town—was shown yesterday in a walk along Purchase street.

Shoes made in Brooklyn, hosiery from Lansdale, Pa., and Rockford, Ill., underwear from Piqua, O., these are some of the show-window exhibits on the main street of a big New England city whose own chief industry is far from prosperous!

The one placarded showing of New England textiles in a representative New Bedford shop is an exhibition of pillow cases made of cotton cloth from another State. And this in the home town of the Wamsutta Mills!

Only one store in New Bedford appeared to be standing up in a big way for the home industries.

On the second floor of Wing's, on Purchase street, a home-furnishing house established 50 years ago, the visitor found an attractive booth devoted to Wamsutta sheets and pillow cases. Over the top of this booth are painted the words "Wamsutta section."

Another well-known product of New Bedford is the Beacon blanket. "Wing's" pushes that, too. "Every Beacon blanket you buy," Wing's tells the women of the city, "helps to run a New Bedford loom."

Undoubtedly there are other good blankets made in the U. S. A., but this New Bedford store's first thought is of an article of New England manufacture, of "home" manufacture, the sale of which will (1) completely satisfy the purchaser and (2) furnish employment to New England labor.

That's the proper spirit! the "home" spirit, the community spirit, the all-together-in-one-boat spirit.

Brockton can stand a little of it.

A walk along Main street in Brockton discovered exactly one shoe store, Sullivan's, in the Hotel Belmont Building, which announces that:

"We Sell New England Shoes Best in the World!"

There are 64 shoe factories in and around Brockton and in normal times they employ 27,000 workers. Today, they are running on part time and yet, in the city of Douglas and Keith and Packard and Barry, the investigator found but one shoe store—and that around in Centre street—making any great noise about a Brockton shoe. A store on Main street advertises a shoe made in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Talk with Brockton men about it and you will be told that the home-town folk can buy their shoes at the factories.

But how about other people? How about the visitor? What impression will he carry away with him of a city so silent about its own manufactures?

The average New Englander you meet appears to be quite as proud of his part of the country as the man from California, or the booster from Oklahoma, or the resident of Florida. He may not make such a fuss over it, he may not be so demonstrative, but down deep he loves his New England with every breath and with every pulsation of his heart.

Maybe he is not to blame for what appears to be his lack of interest in New England products.

Possibly he hasn't been TOLD enough about them, what they are, where they are made, who makes them.

He knows the importance of Lynn, Haverhill, and Brockton as shoe towns, and of Manchester, Lowell, Lawrence, Fall River, New Bedford and Providence in textiles, but how much does he know about specific products?

Who is going to tell him?

In what way?

How soon?

For many things, the New Englander is COMPELLED to go abroad, notably for his foodstuffs. There are not so many acres under cultivation in New England as there were a century ago. Four-fifths of all the poultry and eggs we consume have to be brought in from outside.

No one wants to build a stone wall around these Six States, and tell the rest of the world to keep out, but there IS a growing belief that a community spirit must be built up here, for the good of New England industry and the protection of the New England worker.

New England, to be truly prosperous, must sell New England TO New England.

The task is a mighty one, for New Englanders must first be TOLD about New England, must be introduced to New England products.

A job calling for all the ingenuity, all the enthusiasm, all the "home" spirit, of the Minute Men of New England.
